

WE APPEAL TO

all Princetonians who are anxious to share their Holidays with others — with others whose ways of life and hopes for the future force them to remain in the shadows where Christmas can be one more long, gray day.

Because Christmas, particularly in a world shaken by war and besieged by fears and nagging doubts, is a season for inner as well as outer joy, and because all too seldom do those thirsting for happiness and a sense of belonging come to feel that Christmas can also be for them, TOWN TOPICS presents for the entire Princeton community a sampling of case-histories which have been carefully documented by the Family Service Agency.

There are among us dozens of boys and girls and an ever-growing number of adults who have been struck down as any of us might be struck down. They range in age from toddlers and seemingly mature teen-agers to desperately concerned men and women and they could be rightfully called Princeton's "perplexed, or forgotten few." While their basic, every-day needs, such as shelter, food and medicines, are met by the established welfare services, what they need — and crave above all else — is the assurance that human beings are important, and never more so than at this time of year.

Most often it is the inching paralysis of worry and loneliness and uncertainty, whether forcing 7-year-old Mary to sob uncontrollably in the room she shares with 5 brothers and sisters or causing 59-year-old Mr. T. to withdraw into a world of his own, that is hard to define, even more difficult to resolve. The unseen problems of the individual and the complicated relationships between human beings are crucial issues on which lives can be wrecked beyond salvage — unless, somehow or other, they are given the kind of thoughtful assistance and guidance which are even more important than tinsel or bright lights, or laughter around the Christmas table.

TOMMY

Tommy, age 9, is beginning to enjoy school and for the first time in his life looks forward to going home after school. He and his hard-working mother, deserted by Tommy's father when the youngster was barely four, are becoming a more and more effective partnership and are relishing all that is connoted by "togetherness."

For a period of years, in her efforts to make ends meet and in her determination not to rely on the welfare services for which she would be eligible, Mrs. W. made her home with her parents and gradually came to see that not all grandparents understand inquisitive, affection-seeking little boys. Things went from bad to worse, with Tommy growing into a "loner" in a divided, bitter household.

TOWN TOPICS funds made summer camp possible and gave Mrs. W an opportunity to explore with others the problems of raising a fatherless son. She decided to strike out on her own; Tommy came back to a home of his own, a home that with further moderate help, both financial and social, will surely survive.

A COURAGEOUS MOTHER

Only after three discouraging months of job-hunting, during which she learned that she lacked skills to support herself and a beguiling 3-year-old daughter, did Mrs. S. ask for guidance. A native of the Netherlands, who was divorced by her American husband a year or so following her immigration to this country, this attractive 30-year-old mother sought — almost in desperation — ways in which to become self-sustaining.

Interviews confirmed her interests and capacities and paved the way for her enrollment in a computer training program. With nursery care provided for Susan,

BUSES? FOR PRINCETON?

There is a Santa Claus. With Christmas shopping traffic trying up Nassau Street lighter than a present from Aunt Maude, the thoughts of Princeton turn once again to the possibility of public transportation.

Buses, in short.

Two proposals are in the holiday air. Both were discussed this week by Borough Councilman Alice Male who says, with the kind of heady optimism people get at Christ-mas-time, that maybe one or both plans could be in operation by June.

(1) is mini-buses, operating from parking areas on the edge of town.

(2) is the possibility of using Capital Transit buses. Those who follow election campaigns will recognize this one — it was brought up this fall by Borough Republican candidates.

Mrs. Male says she has been checking on public transportation since early this year, with encouragement from Mayor Henry S. Peterson.

In the next few weeks, she plans to talk with the new management of Capital Transit to see whether something is possible for Princeton.

One suggestion, she says, starts with the number of Princeton Hospital employees who live in Trenton. A Capital Transit bus might come in Trenton, go down Witherspoon Street to Princeton Hospital, then travel along Valley Road to the Princeton Shopping Center, up Harrison Street and down Nassau to home-base, making stops all along the way.

The idea of peripheral parking lots with bus service into town, is an old one. It was proposed at one time by former mayor Minot C. Morgan Jr., when he was running for reelection.

Mrs. Male has four parking areas in mind: the old Borough sewer field where Mountain Avenue dead-ends into Elm Road; the area of the National Guard Armory on River Road in the Township; a point where Alexander Road and the future Loop Road meet (in the southwestern section of the community) and land across Lake Carnegie on Lower Harrison Street.

Princeton University owns the last-named parcel and most of the Alexander-Loop land.

John P. Moran, for the University says of Mrs. Male's idea that "it's a good one, but it would depend on the economic feasibility . . ."

One of Mrs. Male's suggestions is that the mini-buses that spoke out from these parking hubs, could be driven by high school students in a vocational education work-study program; you work, driving the bus, and you learn bus and car maintenance at the same time.

BUSES BY JUNE? Borough Council member Alice Male is working toward a public transportation program for Princeton that may be ready by mid-1978.

The question, of course, is whether the age-limit would be within state law. University or Seminary students might also be hired, Mrs. Male says. In any case, young drivers could ease the economic drain.

Traffic in town — and not merely Christmas shopping traffic — is an anxious concern for Mrs. Male. She stated this week that the mini-bus plan might be a possible first step before middle-income housing can be built on the Witherspoon - Spring parking lots. She is worried about the increased traffic that construction would generate.

"I think we could have mini-buses in operation, at least in part," by June," she stated. "That's not so impossible; if people are willing to work for something, it can come quicker than you think."

HAVE A BEER ON US
For Graduates. The graduate college can have its rathskeller. Borough Council voted 4-2 Tuesday night to dispense a club liquor license to The House of the Graduate College, a club consisting of all men and women graduate students at Princeton University.

"No" votes were cast by Councilmen Robert Hendry and Alice Male. Mr. Hendry said local bars and liquor stores could suffer loss of business, and he warned that the vote was a precedent which opened the door to all kinds of organizations.

Mrs. Male protested that, although the current organization plans to serve only beer and to be open only Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, a change in membership over the years could mean expanded hours and the sale of hard liquor.

She questioned the University's contention that the group is valuable to the town because it expands student friendship which, in turn, spill out into the community. Not so, she said: students will keep down even more into the University community and not venture out into the town even as much as they do now.

In another liquor matter, Council heard the report of an alleged violation involving a minor. A 15-year-old student at the Hun School has said he was manhandled by two youths about 19 years of age and compelled to enter Cousins, on Palmer Square, and purchase liquor.

According to Borough officials, Cousins admits selling the liquor, but says that the boy signed a statement and produced identification showing that he was of age.

The matter will be heard before Mayor and Council at 7:30 on January 12.

The fate of Beatty House at 19 Vandewater still hasn't been decided. The zoning board has recommended a variance enabling attorney Sidney Souter to use the historic old house for law offices and a single apartment.

Council voted 5-1 Tuesday to send Beatty House to the Planning Board for site plan review. The planners will meet on the matter at 7:30 Monday, December 22, and Council will consider it at the usual year-end Council meeting, scheduled this year for Monday, December 29.

J. Seymour Montgomery, appearing for Leonard LaPlaca who lives next door to the Beatty house and objects to the zoning decision, protested Council's action. He said the question should have gone to the Planning Board for site plan review first, and then to the zoning board.

Mr. Souter countered by stating that he didn't think site plan was required at all.

The possibility of court action was hinted by both sides. Council's decision, made after a long recess, didn't please Councilman Fred Peterson. He said he cast the only "no" vote because he felt that Council should have accepted the zoning board's recommendation.

Council received the "unfavorable recommendation" of the Planning Board toward the 38-signature petition asking a zoning change for the nine acres on Harrison Street where a developer proposes to build town houses.

Mayor Henry S. Patterson and Police Commissioner Robert Hendry have sent a letter of commendation to Borough police praising their actions during the two incidents involving the Students for a Democratic Society and the Institute for Defense Analyses.

This was Mayor Patterson's last regular Council meeting and he spoke briefly of his enjoyment of eight years in office. Councilman Charles Cornforth, Council president, praised the mayor for crystallizing the views of various Councilmen "and never trying to impose his will upon us."

Mrs. S. completed her courses with highly commendable grades and qualified for a post that in the foreseeable future will generate an income adequate for herself and her child.

FATHER AND SONS

A vicious heart attack, which forced him to leave the construction industry, brought Mr. V., the father of two sons, 8 and 10, to Family Service. Jobless and running perilously low on the funds he had managed to save since his divorced wife remarried three years ago, Mr. V. was fighting a losing battle. The house, a social worker reported, was a "frightening mess" and the two boys — as able and willing as they are — could no longer cope alone with such essentials as the washing and ironing.

Homemaker Service two days a week was immediately provided and community agencies helped Mr. V. seek out a job in which he wouldn't "have to lift anything heavy." Now driving a truck for a major department store, with an assistant shouldering the bulky loads, Mr. V. and Joe and Buck are moving steadily ahead and, week by week, are gaining confidence in themselves.

MR. AND MRS. R.

When they first approached Family Service upon the advice of the family physician, Mrs. R., seriously ill, was convinced that life was over and Mr. R. was bewildered by his wife's incessant criticisms and demands.

Although they had been married for a quarter-century, it developed that they had never really learned to live with one another in complete trust. Even when their now grown children were small they had both held full-time jobs and had clung to a kind of independence described by Mrs. R. as "my ability to take care of myself."

With the guidance of skilled counselors, they have come to see one another in a new light and to appreciate one another in new ways. The grim spectre of illness cannot be spirited away, but Mrs. R. is increasingly aware that her husband cares deeply, and can be relied upon until "death do us part." In turn, Mr. R. walks a bit straighter because his wife is turning to him for affection and support.

4-YEAR-OLD JANE

Mr. and Mrs. C., struggling on the subsistence level, were resigned to still another failure when they approached Family Service for assistance in paying for the transportation of their retarded 4-year-old daughter to a special training school. Painfully aware that their beloved Jane, if she is ever to develop her limited potential, must be helped, they had reached the end of their rope in scraping together the dollars they so urgently needed.

BLACK FIREMEN?

Rights Commission Raises Question. There are no black firemen in Princeton

Fires in Princeton are fought by about 150 volunteer firemen who belong to three fire companies. New members are voted into each company by its membership and must then be approved by the Mayor and Council of the Borough.

Concerned by the lack of black firemen, the Joint Commission on Civil Rights asked representatives of the three companies to sit down on Nov.

Gordon H. Mack, chairman of the Commission, suggested that because there are no black firemen, there is a feeling in the Princeton community that discrimination exists.

Robert F. Mooney, president of Mercer Engineering Company, Number 3, told the Commission that there was no discrimination and that members of all minority groups are welcome to join if they meet minimum physical and mental requirements.

Fire companies have never done active recruiting. Mr. Mooney explained. The applicant is sponsored by a member of a company, invited to a meeting and then voted on by the membership.

In one company, five "no" votes would deny membership to the applicant, he said. In another, 25 per cent of the members present and voting could deny membership to a candidate.

Members of the Civil Rights Commission pointed out that present practices of recruiting and admitting might lead to charges of discrimination even if no discrimination were practiced or intended.

In a separate statement to the press, presidents of the three companies repeated that "The Princeton Fire Department is and has been for some time, ready and willing to rectify the situation. All we need are qualified candidates.

To qualify for membership, a man must be in the 21-25 age bracket, a resident of either Borough or Township and a citizen of the United States, of good moral character and physically fit for active service.

Members need a sponsor.

William J. Toole, president of Hook and Ladder (91 Moore Street, 921-6879); Norman Service, president of Engine Company Number One (367 Ewing 924-1711) or Mr. Mooney, 46 Cedar Lane, 924-3412).

Members need a sponsor. Presidents of the company state that anybody who wants an application or a sponsor should get in touch with one of the presidents. They are

Last summer, the three fire companies started a cadet training program for high school youths. Civil Rights Commission members suggested that next summer, the plan might be used to bring in qualified young black men who might be interested in becoming full-fledged firemen when they turned 21.

Company representatives present at the Civil Rights meeting warned they could not commit their members to any suggestions, but Commenting on the discussions, Mayor Henry S. Patterson said "I honestly feel that the fire companies do want black members, and that black applicants will indeed be admitted."

PERMIT GRANTED

For Alexander St. Tract, The state's Water Policy and Supply Council has re-issued a ground-preparation permit to Park Lane Equities, owners of a six-acre tract in Princeton Township on the west side of Alexander Street between Stony Brook and the canal.

Park Lane's original plans for the site called for a 15-story luxury apartment building containing 191 units, two underground parking areas, a swimming pool and tennis courts.

The area lies close to the Stony Brook flood plain and landfill permission from the water policy council has been in question.

In the light of re-issuance of the landfill permit, Oliver Houghton, who would build the apartments, stated that owners of the land will now go ahead with site improvements and then apply to the Township for permission to go ahead with development.

APPROVAL FOR INN

Site - plan, in Township, Princeton University's site plans for the part of Princeton Inn, that's in the Township, were approved by the Township Planning Board Monday night subject to a few details. The University is to dedicate to the Township enough land on the west side of Alexander for any future street widening. If this land dedication is required, the University will have to submit another, modified, site plan.

On the vote, Planning Board member Gerald Breesee abstained (he is affiliated with the University) and William Stuphan voted "no." The University must also have engineering approval for drainage and lighting.

Administrator Joseph R. Nini estimated that the widening won't come about until at least 1973.

The Princeton Packet received unconditional site plan approval for a two-story addition to the plant.

JEWELRY IS STOLEN

From Einstein Drive Home. Articles of jewelry, including two watches, valued at $450, were stolen during the week end from the home of Charles R. Greb, 86 Einstein Drive.

Mr. Greb told Township police the jewelry was stolen from a box in his apartment bedroom. He remarked to P.D. Howard Sweeney, the investigating officer, that he had held a party for about 35 teenagers.

... AND READY TO GO!

New Planning Board. The brand new, shiny, bright-eyed Princeton Regional Planning Board will hold its first meeting on Tuesday, January 6, in Township Hall.

Hans K. Sander, chairman of the Township's Planning Board, announced the meeting date Monday night. It will be an organization meeting, only.

Both parent planning boards — Borough and Township — will eventually fade away. The Township's board is destined to remain in existence until it completes work on the new zoning ordinance.

The Borough Board is scheduled to consider site-plans for classified advertising is 924-2206.

19 Vandeventer, but it has seven Borough appointments the first of the year, John B. Redding Jr., of the Borough board, has already said he doesn't want to be named to the new board. He was appointed to the Borough Board in June, 1965, by Mayor Henry S. Patterson.

 Committee, who are scheduled to meet this Wednesday to find out why the smell, and what to do about it.
 The meeting, called by Township Administrator Joseph R. Nini, follows a report received early this week from the state health department.

Health officials reported evidence that liquid wastes have been dumped on the land-fill. Presumably this has been done by scavenging companies who clean out a home-owner's septic system and then illegally dump the sludge on top of the dump instead of disposing of it into the sewer system — which is the way they're supposed to do it.

The state also suspects that an employee of the sewer plant accidentally uncovered, probably with a bulldozer, an area which had been nicely and legally covered. The result, of course, is like opening a festering wound. It is this, Mr. Nini suspects, which has caused most of the odor neighbors have complained about.

Mrs. Elmer Alpert, of Autumn Road — whose husband, incidentally, is on the Township Board of Health — charges that the present sewer plant is not properly supervised, although she admits that it is difficult to get the necessary manpower.

She demands a moratorium on all sewer construction and extension until the plant is enlarged. She also advocates a 25% tax reduction for people who own property nearby so long as the odors persist.

New Sewer? The question of new sewers will come before Township Committee next Monday night. Residents of Herrontown and Autumn Hill, including Mrs. Alpert, have been invited by Committee to come and talk about an Autumn Hill sewer extension.

Last year, half a dozen people who own property in the area petitioned Township Committee for a sewer extension. These people cannot build houses because soil percolation tests do not meet Board of Health standards.

Without a Board of Health permit for installation of a septic system, no building permit can be issued. So the property owners claim that a sewer extension is their only hope.

Township Committee, polling people who already live in the neighborhood and have working septic systems, found very little interest in a sewer extension.

A second petition was filed early this year. In September, the board of Health found a single malfunctioning septic system on Autumn Hill and "strongly recommended" construction of a sewer.

Can the present sewer plant cope with an additional line? "The plant is a working entity," Mr. Nini declares. "Admittedly, it's not as efficient

Emergency funds were immediately allocated on a temporary basis so that Lane could continue to inch forward in the company of other handicapped children. A community service club included her in its program for crippled children and, on the threshold of Christmas, for the first time since Lane's birth, Mr. and Mrs. C. are living with hope rather than with the grinding burdens of despair.

WHILE THERE IS TIME

Miss A., a youthful-looking 85, with all of the bounce of an individual in her 40's, is slowly adjusting to the strange routine of a nursing home near Princeton. Suddenly notified by her landlady that she must move, and frustrated by a 3-month search for accommodations in which she could remain "young in spirit and agile physically," she saw the light: a home for the aged which she might leave now and then for the senior activities she adores. "I'll make it somehow or other" — as she told her caseworker the other day.

When Mr. and Mrs. C. reluctantly approached Family Service, they were scared to death of being told they were irresponsible because Dan was not doing as well in school as his teachers thought he should be on the basis of remarkably high ratings on achievement tests. These dedicated parents explained that it was impossible for them to help Dan with his homework in that they had but had minimal formal education — the equivalent of the 4th grade. Somehow or other the "education gap" is closing, and Dan, age 12, with his eyes on the moon, senses that his mother and father are with him and that he, in turn, can strengthen them.

Several months ago the prospects couldn't have been more bleak for Mr. L., a tough-fibred farm worker: no money, no place to live and the probability of total blindness at age 40. However, a local physician treating the sadly neglected eyes found a job for him: Family Service unearthened funds to tide him over; and today, almost self-supporting in the best job he has ever had, he is in a position to take advantage of the medical resources which will save his sight and keep him a productive member of the economy he once challenged.

Amount needed: upwards of $2,500 to enable the Family Service Agency and allied community services to extend to these neighbors of ours the thoughtful and highly specialized help which will guide them through the maze of bewilderment and could well mean the difference between despair and hope, between apathy and faith in the things that count. These, and many, many others, need the encouragement and reassuring support that only understanding friends can provide.

THIS APPEAL IS MADE ONLY IN TOWN TOPICS. THERE WILL BE NO OTHER SOLICITATIONS OF ANY KIND AND NO ONE BUT YOU WILL EVER KNOW WHETHER OR NOT YOU PASS IT BY.

Checks should be made payable to The Town Topics Christmas Fund and mailed to Town Topics, P.O. Box 661, Princeton, New Jersey. Every penny contributed goes for the benefit of those who whom we make this 23d Annual Christmas Appeal.

FIVE FOR SCHOOL BOARD
Contest in Township. Two Township residents will contest for the two-year seat on the Princeton Regional School Board. This is the seat made available by the resignation from the board of C. Shelby Root after one year of his three-year term.

The candidates are Burnett H. Sams, 513 Prospect Avenue, and Mrs. Loren Johnston, 101 Overbrook.

The three-year Township seat is uncontested so far. Dr. Robert Bietman, 193 Grover Avenue, has announced his candidacy.

In the Borough, there is no contest so far. Mrs. J. Stuart Hunter, 100 Bayard Lane, and Mrs. Robert Geddes, 229 Mercer, are running for the two available positions.

Deadline for filing petitions is Friday, December 26 at 4 p.m., in the Stony Brook Administration Building on Stockton Street. Petitions require the signatures of 10 people who live in the same municipality — Borough or Township — as the candidate. Petition blanks may be obtained at Stony Brook at any time.

Dr. Sams is a mathematician at RCA engaged in research on computer systems. He came to the RCA Space Center in 1959, but moved to Washington in the early 60s. Returning to Princeton in 1964, he and his wife have two young children in the Princeton schools.

In a statement announcing his candidacy, Dr. Sams said he and his wife are particularly concerned about drugs. "The policy adopted by the school board is a beginning, but much remains to be done," he stated. Dr. Sams worked with the Princeton Interfaith Council on its statement to Borough and Township governments concerning drug abuse.

Urging the school system to make sure Princeton obtains the fullest educational value for each dollar spent, "Dr. Sams continued: 'The efforts expended to help a teacher do a better job in the classroom give us our greatest education.'

Protest March Set for Sunday

Princeton High School students and townspeople will march from Palmer Square to Princeton High School Sunday at 2, demonstrating their solidarity against the war in Vietnam. Once at the school, the group will gather in the auditorium to hear a series of speakers. No estimate on the number of marchers has been announced.

Those scheduled to speak at the 3 p.m. assembly on reconstruction of the urban environment include Robert Geddes, Dean of the Architecture School at Princeton, and Robert Ganges, assistant head of the Model Cities Program in Trenton.

The march is part of the effort to mobilize political power on the local level undertaken by Princeton Mortuarium Committee during the month of December in conjunction with similar events across the country.

Dave Marshall, spokesman for the committee, said that the students would be urged to work together with peace people in visiting their congressmen and community organizations to emphasize the need for a speedy conclusion to the war and refocusing attention on neglected domestic priorities.

Also scheduled for Sunday at 2 is a Trenton Regional Town Meeting at the War Memorial Building. Centering on the subject, "Human Needs vs. Military Spending," the meeting will include a number of short talks on the problems of pollution, housing, art, recreation and youth. Speakers will include Terry Davis, of Princeton University's Political Science Department; Joseph Brown, the sculptor, housing specialist Jay Lynch and Fred Arnold, a Trenton minister.

al return. They directly help the students, yield the satisfaction of a job well done to the teacher, and only a happy teacher who finds satisfaction in his work can create the classroom environment where learning can best take place."

Dr. Sams regards Princeton's most important problems as selection of principals for Princeton High School and the Middle School, and confronting the question of high school facilities.

He also stated his hope that the board can devote more time to long-range planning.

CAR LEAVES ROAD

Driver hospitalized. George Kelleher, 19, 176 Parkside Avenue, was hospitalized Saturday when his small foreign station wagon ran off Stockton Street some 600 feet north of Quaker Road and struck a tree.

He was taken unconscious to Princeton Hospital where he was admitted with a concussion. Four sutures were also used to close a head laceration. He was released Monday afternoon.

Montgomery Township police have requested the help of residents in the Belle Mead - Blawieburg area in locating a stray dog that severely bit a maintenance man at Carrier Clinic Monday afternoon.

Tom Jones, 22, was treated at Princeton Hospital for the bite, which required 14 stitches. If the dog is found within a week or so, Mr. Jones will also have to undergo a painful series of shots on the theory that the animal might have been rabid.

The dog was described as small, black, brown, and white, beagle-type, with a long clothesline attached to a red collar. Mr. Jones had managed to attach the line before he was bitten. Anyone spotting the dog should call the Montgomery Township municipal building, (201) 359-8211.

also, 61 Leight Avenue, reported the theft of a $200 tape recorder from the house.

Township police believe that entry was gained through a cellar door that had been left unlocked. The victim reported the house had been occupied since the summer.

YOUTH CENTER AGAIN Radio, Art Supplies Taken. A repeated target in the past for entries, the Princeton Youth Center, Green and Witherspoon Streets, was entered again Monday.

"We don't know how they got in, but a door to the Civil Rights office was forced open," Chief Peter J. McCrohan said. Stolen were a $25 table radio and $30 worth of

The second driver was Penelope N. Bush, 26, of 391 Nassau. She was ticketed by Ptl. James Agins for failure to yield while exiting from a private drive onto a roadway.

Collision at I-94 Drive. Two cars collided last week at the entrance to the Institute for Defense Analyses, 100 Prospect Avenue.

Mrs. Martha Mendelson, 23, of New York City, a passenger in a small foreign car operated by Donald J. MacLean, 23, of Montreal, Canada, was admitted to McCosh Infirmary on nearby Princeton University campus for treatment of facial cuts.

The other driver, attempting to turn left into the I-94 drive, was identified as James Duguid, 29, of Laramie, Wyo. Mr. Duguid was cited with failing to yield the right of way.

He told Sgt. Theodore Lewis, the investigating officer, that the beige color of the other car blended into the surrounding background and may have prevented him from seeing it sooner.

GENERAL ALARMS SOUNDS

For Campus Dorm Fire. A general alarm was sounded at 12:43 Thursday morning for a fire in Room 114 of Henry Hall on the University campus.

The fire was confined to one room, which was badly damaged. There were no injuries.

An unattended candle atop a bureau was reported to have been the cause of the blaze. A smoke alarm in the dormitory sounded in the building before the general alarm was put in, but it allegedly was ignored by the students.

Power Failure. The western section of the Borough was without electrical power between 7:47 and 9:11 Saturday evening because of a cable fire on Elm Road.

Sgt. Ralph Procaccino on car patrol discovered the cable broken and burning at Elm and Hodge Road. Police stood by until Public Service repaired the cable.

TWO GIRLS ARRESTED

For Shoplifting Dresses. Two Borough girls, age 15 and 16, were arrested at 5:20 Monday afternoon at their homes, after they allegedly shoplifted two dresses from the Ladybug, a women's apparel shop at 16 Nassau Street. Police recovered the stolen items.

The girls were released to their parents after they were released to Trenton juvenile judge J. Wilson Noden.

Police were alerted at 5 p.m. that two girls had taken at least two dresses and possibly more from the store. The Merchant Alert Plan was activated, which triggered telephone calls to other apparel stores warning them to be on watch for the pair.

Chief Peter J. McCrohan commented, in answer to a question, that he believed it was the first time the Merchant Alert Plan had resulted in an arrest. He implied, however, that the police had used other information as well to make the arrests.

At 5:33 p.m. Monday, Miss Claire Kowalski of Trenton reported her green wallet stolen from her desk drawer in her office in Green Hall, Princeton University campus. It contained, police said, $127.86 and credit cards.

The victim told police she was out of the office on numerous occasions.

black-handled, .32 caliber revolver and a gold watch were apparently the only things stolen from the home of Princeton University professor Ira O. Wade which was entered last week.

Police said that a pane of glass in a kitchen door was broken to enter the 31 Armour Road home. Although the intruder searched every room, police said that he was very neat and the rooms were not ransacked. Detective Robert McAvonia and Sgt. Theodore Lewis investigated.

FOUR ARE FINED

In Borough Court, Four

Princeton residents were fined Monday by Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. in Borough traffic court.

Pamela Wheeler, 25, 218-A Harrison Street was fined $20 for speeding. Paying fines of $15 each were Pedro Rodriguez, 20, 115 Alexander Street, as an unlicensed driver, and James J. Webber, 181 Birch Avenue, late inspection. Anne P. Kingsford, 44, Elm Ridge Road, paid $12 for failing to intersection.

In criminal court, Charles Humphrey, 31, 229½ John Street, was sentenced to six days in jail for being drunk and disorderly early this month at Princeton Hospital. He had already served the six days since his arrest and was released.

In Borough criminal court last week, Joseph F. Hovance, 38, 147 S. Main Street, Pennington, was fined $205 and had his license revoked for two years for drunken driving. He pleaded guilty.

Salus J. Davidow, 31, Opposum Road, Skillman, pleaded not guilty to possession of lewd films. He was held for action by a grand jury.

George L. McGowan III, 23, 4 Greenwood Avenue, was also held for grand jury action on five criminal charges, including assault and battery, possession of drugs and possession of a switchblade knife.

He also faced two traffic violations. He was fined $15 each for speeding and improper discharge of passengers. Judge Tams also lacked on a three-

2 Princetonians "Maligned"

To the Editor of Town Topics: Charles Farrington and Minot Morgan are being maligned.

Because of a feeling that someone connected with Princeton University should not become involved with troubles at a sister institution, I have refrained from saying anything publicly about the intentionally public, non-professional behavior of some of the faculty at Trenton State College (TSC).

Further, up to now this extraordinary behavior has concerned the citizens of Princeton only to the degree that they are citizens of New Jersey and therefore interested in and partially responsible for the progress of public higher education in the State.

There are enough Princetonians not working for the University, I thought, to support progress at TSC and thus to speak out against the conduct of willful, selfish, small-minded men who seem to spend more time pecking and talking to the press about their personal problems than they do talking to their students about the subjects they are paid to teach.

But now I must speak up because these willful, selfish, small-minded, destructive men and their union-mouthpiece, William Hayward of the N.J.E.A., have publicly attacked two of my friends who are residents of our town. Charles Farrington and Minot Morgan, both trustees of TSC, are men of intelligence, fairness, and courage. I have known them and worked with them on a multitude of political and civic undertakings over a good number of years.

A sense of commitment to the public interest is deep and strong in Charlie Farrington and Mike Morgan and each has often answered its demands at the cost of personal profit and comfort. Princeton can be proud of them; New Jersey should be thankful for them.

Dr. Rothberg Speaks.

To the Editor of Town Topics: The forthcoming School Board election will be one of the most important in recent years for the Princeton community. Two members of the nine man Regional Board are to be elected from Princeton TOWN TOPICS will make every effort, based on space limitations, to publish up to 500 words of any letter on a subject directly affecting the Princeton area. Because of the volume of news which must be covered at the community level, letters on topics of a national or international nature cannot be considered. Letters to Mailbox should be typewritten if possible, double-spaced, and must be signed for publication. These received later than Monday afternoon may be held for use the following week.

Borough and two from Princeton Township.

These individuals and their colleagues will bear the burden of many crucial decisions affecting the future of the school system, including the question of new facilities for Princeton High School.

Strong, capable and responsive board members will help the school system to maintain its strengths and to move forward in areas of need.

I hope that many citizens will interest themselves in the selection of the best possible candidates for membership on the Board of Education.

HARVEY ROTHBERG, M.D.
44 Robert Road

(Editor's note: Dr. Rothberg will go off the school board in February after serving on both the former Borough Board and the Regional Board.)

A Presbyterian Heritage.

To the Editor of Town Topics: Though naturally pleased with your account (TOWN TOPICS, Dec. 4), of the Adlai Stevenson papers which I gave to Princeton Theological Seminary in 1965, let me say I did not "convert." Mr. Stevenson to Presbyterianism.

He had a Presbyterian heritage that goes back to John Knox. His grandfather was a Presbyterian minister.

His uncle was a Presbyterian minister. His cousin, Martin H. Hardin, Princeton, is a Presbyterian minister. He and Adlai grew up together in Bloomington, Ill.

Dr. Robert Cope of the Princeton Unitarian Church said to me, "It is obvious Stevenson was identifying with his family heritage."

One wonders why 1955-56 were such years of struggle for those of us close to Mr. Stevenson.

To the Editor of Town Topics: In your article on retiring mayor Henry Patterson I read, "Mr. Patterson... is unbelievably Ivy League, with the up-tight nervousness you expect to find in a Princeton man or a thoroughbred horse."

Oh, for heaven's sake.

Drug Program Needs Money to Help Youths

A young man, "one of the many" who has been helped by the program, is shown in a group photo. The program has helped many youths with drug problems.

These are the proposals in a pilot program now being tested by the Child Guidance Center to help with teens and drug.

At present, the center meets with one or two youths a week. The proposals include a group of youths who are in trouble with drugs, and a group of youths who are in trouble with other problems.

Schools, of the Child Guidance Center, have received $20,000 of the projected $25,000 needed, from Borough, Township and private funds. In 1970, she says, "we'll have time to gauge the element of the program and seek further financing from people who will try to get money."

Mrs. Schoen has talked with the Borough Board of Health, and the health officer has promised to ask for the needed funds from the municipal budget. She has the endorsement of the Township Board of Health, however, and she has asked that she turn to Township Committee. She will appear before the committee next Monday.

A special United Fund appropriation would be needed to cover the cost of the program, says Arthur Curtiss and has announced that he has been selected to head the program. Money is needed for one more social worker; a halitosis clinic; a dental psychologist and—Mrs. Wilesky hopes—one or two formed programs. The program works half-time. And of course, rent for that place where the kids can just go and talk it out.

EMPLOYMENT SOUTHERN
 For Minority in Construction
 Formation of an 11 member committee representing contractors, building trade unions and Princeton University to seek ways of increasing minority employment on all University construction projects has been announced by President Robert F. Gohene.

The committee was recommended at a meeting called in October by President Gohene of the principal contractors and unions notified their programs for attracting minority employees and affirmed their willingness to encourage minority employment in the construction industry.

The newly formed committee, which held its first formal meeting last week, will explore ways and means of assisting minority group members to avail themselves of the employment opportunities in the construction industry. The committee will also seek ways of improving the avenues of approach to employment in the industry.

John P. Moran, General Manager of Planning, Plant, and Properties at the University, and a member of the committee, recognized that great efforts had been made by a number of unions to attract apprentices from minority groups. However, with few exceptions the number of minority members placed in apprentice programs has been limited.

In addition, Mr. Moran noted that few qualified minority journeymen have applied for employment on construction projects. He pointed out that one important reason for this is that the long period of apprenticeship frequently interferes with more pressing financial considerations.

Mr. Moran stressed the need for minority members to disseminate information about Journeyman status among potential minority employees. He said one lack of the various reasons for the low level of minority employment and recommended steps that can be taken to create an atmosphere which will attract minority members to job opportunities in construction.

Members of the committee, which will work closely with Dean Carl A. Fields, Assistant Dean of the College, and a specialist in employment, recruiting and counseling in the University's Office of Personal Services are:

William H. Fry, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, Roy, son, United State Tile & Composition Roofers, Damp and Waterproofing Workers and head of the Building Trades Council of Mercer County; Ben Knott, Sheet Metal Workers International Association; Herbert S. Rauch, United Association of Journeymen and Apprentices of the Plumbing and Pipe Fitting Industry of the United States and Canada.

Also Simon Bell, Bell Company, Inc., Trenton; Thomas Blyth, Robert Blyth Co., Trenton; Clifford L. Eling, Eling Brothers Inc., Somerville; William Hurley, Hurley Painting Contractors, Princeton; H. Taylor Gierard, Acting Manager of Construction, Princeton University; Foster Jacobs, Director, Department of Physical Education, Princeton University and Mr. Moran.

WHALING LIFE RECALLED
 In Historic Society Display
 An exhibit drawn from the whaling lore collection of Mrs. Barbara Johnson will open Monday, December 22, at the winter holiday show at the Princeton Historical Society. Mrs. Johnson will build her exhibit around a somewhat mysterious Princetonian, Charles Henry Wilbur, who was born here during the 19th century, moved to Cranbury with a family, and eventually out to sea, still a young man. His logs, letters, seaman's papers and the scrimshaw he carved on voyages aboard a New Bedford whaler have been acquired for Mrs. Johnson's collection.

The exhibit will be displayed

IT'S A GOOD IDEA TO HAVE A CONSUMER BUREAU REGISTRATION NUMBER

— who has been recommended to Consumer Bureau by his own satisfied customers; and — who has satisfied all his customer's justified claims (if any) which have ever been brought to the attention of Consumer Bureau.

- NOW — BEFORE YOU BUY — from business people who are new to you, you can be sure they've been recommended to Consumer Bureau by their own satisfied customers. Just
- ASK FOR CONSUMER BUREAU REGISTRATION NUMBERS of the firms you plan to deal with. (All 1200 Consumer Bureau Registered business firms now have Consumer Bureau Registration Numbers — whether they advertise or not — and it costs them nothing to have those Registration Numbers or to tell you what their numbers are — so don't be misled about advertising costs.)
- IF YOU HAVE A JUSTIFIED CLAIM involving any business firm located within 25 miles of Princeton, just call 924-0338 — the Consumer Bureau — either get the matter straightened out to your satisfaction or will remove or bar the business firm from the Consumer Bureau Register.
- WHEN YOU'RE BUYING FROM SOMEONE NEW TO YOU —

IT'S SAFER TO DEAL WHERE YOU SEE THIS SEAL

— or with business people who cheerfully give you their Consumer Bureau Registration Numbers!

THE FIRST AWARD under a new FMC Chemical Corporation safety program went to the Route 1 Research and Development Center, in competition with more than 100 FMC plants in North America. Mr. Raymond C. Towce (left), executive vice-president, presented the award to Dr. Oscar H. Johnson, director of research at the R & D Center.

FMC WINS AWARD

For Safety Record. Under a new company-wide safety program, the Princeton research center of the FMC Corporation has been given the first "Vice President's Award" for completing 285 days without a disabling injury.

The award was presented by Raymond C. Towce, executive vice president of the FMC Chemical Group, and accepted in behalf of the 350 Princeton employees by Dr. Oscar H. Johnson, vice-president and director of research. All employees of the centers attended the ceremony in the auditorium of the main building on Route 1 and Plainsboro Road.

The Research and Development Center passed the required 285 days between January 1 and October 13, 1968, and is still going strong, according to officials. Some 1,200,000 man-hours have elapsed since the last disabling accident occurred there.

The R & D Center also received a citation from the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company November 12, for having passed the million-hour mark.

CAMILLE WAS COSTLY

Assessment Upped $2000. The Princeton United Fund has granted another $2,130 in aid to the Red Cross for disaster relief that followed hurricane Camille last August. The action was taken last week after a joint meeting of the Princeton area United Fund-Red Cross campaign committee and brings the total United Fund contribution this year to $3,250.

Aided to Red Cross reserves of $200 and unsolicited contributions of $98, this enabled the Princeton Red Cross Chapter to meet its 1968 quota of $4,718. The large assessment resulted from an adjustment up to the Red Cross for disaster relief that followed hurricane Camille last August. The action was taken last week after a joint meeting of the Princeton area United Fund-Red Cross campaign committee and brings the total United Fund contribution this year to $3,250.

United Fund Red Cross campaign officials expressed hope this week that the current United Appeal will be oversubscribed to help pay the allocation for Camille. The campaign's goal is $491,336 this year.

N.G.W. TO MEET

PAR SHOWS GAIN

In Nine-Month Earnings, Princeton Applied Research Corporation has reported sales up 31% for the first nine months of 1969 over the corresponding period last year. Income resulting from the of sales of $3,796,300 also showed an increase of 6%. Company president Emil W. Gehmann says that the increases occurred despite generally reported cutbacks of federal support for basic research.

The company has also reported the appointment in September of Matthew Cincelli as operations manager. Mr. Cincelli, who was plant manager of RCA's Missile and Surface Radar division, has assumed responsibility for all phases of manufacturing operations, with the aim of improving product quality and reliability, and reducing manufacturing costs.

New products added to the PAR line in the past quarter include the model 231 quantizer and rate meter, and the model 113 low noise preamplifier.

The quantizer is of particular interest to astronomers, physicists and others concerned with low level light signals, and the preamplifier is a valuable tool for biologists and medical researchers, who are interested in electronic examinations of the brain and heart.

PETERSON ELECTED

As Laidlaw Vice-President, Frederic Peterson, 30 Houdinot Street, manager of the Princeton office of Laidlaw & Co., has been elected vice president and director of Laidlaw & Co. Inc., 25 Broad Street, N. Y.

Originally established as a partnership in 1842, the New York brokerage firm became a corporation this month. Besides Princeton, it maintains branch offices in Belmar, Bergenfield and Bloomfield in New Jersey, Boston, Washington, Montreal, Toronto, Colchester, Virginia and Old City, Pa.

Mr. Peterson will continue to manage the Princeton office and will also serve as a member of the executive committee of the new corporation. A member of Borough Council, he is chairman of the advisory board of First Princeton National Bank, and a director of Base Ten Systems, Midwest Aluminum Industries and Peterson's Guides, Inc.

Frederic Peterson

Peter Hegener

NEW EDITION OF GUIDES
Published by Peterson's, Peterson's Guides has just published the 1970 edition of "Traveller to Graduate Study." The 4,000-page reference work in 12 volumes offers 16,000 directory listings of graduate study programs in the United States.

The Guide will be distributed free to undergraduate colleges and counselling services across the country. This cost is borne by the subscribing graduate schools whose listings are included in the Guide's full-page reference section.

By a copyrighted format, the Guide channels information about each program into consistent units, while still allowing a description of the unique aura of each campus and program. The descriptions are written by faculty, or administration members at each graduate school, and approved by the school.

Peter W. Hegener, founder and president of the Guides, has announced that the company will also publish a companion volume next year, describing undergraduate colleges in the same way. These new Guides will be distributed, again without cost, to 20,000 public and private secondary schools and 786 two-year colleges.

Peterson's Guides does not sell its books to the general public, but does permit institutional purchasers to order them. Such users include more than 1,000 of the nation's largest libraries, corporations with continuing education programs, grant managements, and faculty research organizations. The U.S. Government also forwards the Guides to overseas embassies, peace corps posts and military installations.

News Of The CHURCHES

TO PRESENT "MESSIAH"
At First Presbyterian, The 38 voice choir of First Presbyterian Church will sing the Christmas portion of Handel's Messiah at the 11 a.m. service this Sunday. Mrs. Mary Krimmel, organist and choir director, will conduct.

Soloists are Charlene Weickel, soprano, a recent graduate of Westminster Choir College; Nancy Dodson, alto; Warren Dodson, tenor and Edward Fox, bass.

Members of the string ensemble will accompany the choir include Joseph Kovaks, first violin; Francis Gross, second violin; Betty Goldblatt, viola; and Joan Thompson, cello. Trumpets will be played by Virginia Swetten and Larry Wright.

Miss Anna Royer, a graduate of Westminster and music teacher at the John Witherspoon School is organist for the oratorio.

A reception for the choir will follow the service.

PLEDGES INCREASE
At First Presbyterian, The Every Member Canvas of

GUEST PREACHER: Rev. Dr. Gaillard S. Wilmer Jr., chairman of the Division of Church and Race of the United Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., will preach at 10 a.m. this Thursday in Miller Chapel at Princeton Theological Seminary. Dr. Editor G. Hawkins, former moderator of the United Presbyterian Church, will conduct the service.

First Presbyterian Church has raised $208,548, an increase of 24% over last year's apportionment. The increase, amounting to $40,708, came from pledges from 56 families. Some individuals or family units had yet to be heard from at the time of the tally, November 24.

According to the church's publication, "First," only three churches of comparable size in the denomination have been able to achieve a similar record.

SPECIAL PROGRAM SET

By Kingston Church. Each's cantata, "For Us A Child Is Born," will be sung by the Kingston Presbyterian Church choir at the 11 a.m. worship service this Sunday. Mrs. John Bowman is organist and choir director.

Instrumentalists who will accompany the choir are Elma D'Brung, cello; Lora MacIn, violin; Peter Weiss, oboe, and Joanne Obrik, flute.

FUND TO BENEFIT

From Witherspoon. A Christmas Boutique will be held this Saturday from 10 a.m. until 1 p.m. at the Witherspoon Street, Presbyterian Church to benefit the development fund.

Featured among the boutique offerings are a treasure chest, bargains in knitted goods, baked goods, a white elephant grab bag; Christmas gift shop, a snack bar, apron bar, arts and crafts, and an outdoor show.

Mrs. Doris Mitnaul and Mrs. Paul Barlow are co-chairmen. Mrs. Wila Bywaters is co-ordinator.

The church development fund has just purchased a new manse at 453 Walnut Lane for the pastor, the Rev. Harold Thomas. Other projects include renovation and expansion of the facilities at the church location, 124 Witherspoon Street. Serving on the Christmas Boutique committee are Mrs. Fannie Floyd, Mrs. Joanne Thomas, Mrs. Ruby Newton, Mrs. Pat Lewis, Katie Vanderbrake and Mrs. Ann Thomas.

Also Mrs. Melissa Allen, Mrs. Susan Waxwood, Mrs. Ardell Walker, Mrs. Mavis Cameron, Mrs. Daphne Moore, Mrs. Mary Ward, Mrs. Lucille Thompson, Mrs. Doris Burrell, Mrs. Ellen Caldwell and Mrs. Mary Brown.

BULLETIN NOTES

Rev. Dr. James H. Robinson, director of Operation Crossroads Africa, will be the preacher at the 11 a.m. service on Sunday in Princeton University Chapel. His sermon title is "A Faith For Tough Times."

Witherspoon Presbyterian Church will head the Rev. Dr. Thornton P. Penfield as preacher at the 11 a.m. worship service this Sunday. "Bible Reading and Christmas" is his topic.

Cahill Not For Morven

Governor-elect William T. Cahill said this week that he and his family will not live in Morven, the Stockton Street mansion which has been the home of New Jersey governors since Charles Edison moved in a quarter-century ago.

Indicating that he feels Morven "is not suitable for my family," Mr. Cahill indicated that he may take occupancy of Drumthwacket, about three blocks south on Stockton. However, renovation costs upwards of $250,000 are considered necessary before it is suitable for residential purposes. For several years, the one-time Moses T. Pyne home has been used for exhibits and other public functions.

The Cahill family will continue to live in Collingswood for the immediate future. There are eight children, only one of whom is married.

Masterion of New Brunswick, Mrs. Mary Hill, Mrs. Ann Stryker, Mrs. Margaret Bell and Mrs. Elizabeth Cevera of Princeton.

Requiem high mass was celebrated in St. Alphonsus' church. Interment will be at the convenience of the family.

Harry E. Runyon, 67, died December 6 at his home, 3 East Prospect Street, Hopewell. He was the husband of Mrs. M. Emma S. Runyon.

Born in Hopewell, Mr. Runyon retired in 1968 from the Rockwell Manufacturing Company after 47 years. He was a member of the Old Timers Club at Rockwell.

Also surviving is a sister, Mrs. Sadie R. Chatten of Hopewell.

The service was held at the Cromwell Memorial Home, the Rev. Robert A. Beringer of Hopewell Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in Highland Cemetery.

Frederick L. Heale, 68, of 129 Prospect Avenue, died December 8 suddenly at Princeton Hospital.

Born in Ewing, Mich., Mr. Heale was building superintendent for the Prospect Avenue Apartments.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Mildred C. Heale; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Naomi Lackey of Vineland, and four grand children.

The service will be held at

VICE-PRESIDENT NAMED
At First National Bank, S. George G. Savory, a former vice-president of the First National City Bank in Binghamton, N.Y., has joined the First National Bank as a vice president.

A New York University graduate, Mr. Savory was a pilot during World War II, serving one year with the Royal Canadian Air Force and five with the U.S. Army Corps, attaining the rank of captain.

He will live on Montgomery Road, Montgomery Township, with his wife and a daughter. A son attends Colby College, Waterville, Me.

WOMEN NAMED

As "Outstanding," Two women associated with Au Fait Decor, Inc. in Princeton Junction, have been nominated "outstanding women of the year" by a Chicago-based organization.

Barbara Claire Wilk and Marie Toop, both of 2 Nassau Street, are the nominees. Their names were presented by the Institute of Technology, from which they were both graduated.

Nominations are sought by Outstanding Women of America, of Chicago, which seeks names from educational institutions, civic organizations, charitable organizations and so on. Individuals are evaluated on their entire professional and community work, and after all nominations have been made, a single "outstanding woman" from each state is selected.

RCA NAMES TRUDEL

To Director's Post, A. Robert Trudel has been appointed Director, Corporate Engineering Services at RCA. His responsibilities include RCA corporate programs concerned with engineering education, engineering professional development, technical information retrieval standards, aided design, and technical papers and publications.

Before joining RCA earlier this year as staff engineer, Product Engineering, Mr. Trudel spent four years with the Scott Paper Co., Philadelphia, as assistant to the vice president, research and engineering, and later as assistant Director of Corporate Development.

He worked for Princeton University from 1946 to 1961 on the design and construction of the Princeton-Pennsylvania Accelerator (PPA), a multi-million dollar laboratory for nuclear particle research. He was Engineering Coordinator, later Assistant Director of PPA.

Mr. Trudel received a B.S. degree in Engineering from Swarthmore College in 1943 and a Diploma in Aeronautical Engineering from the U.S. Naval Academy in 1946. During World War II he served as the naval officer on destroyers in the Pacific. After the war, he was employed by the Otis Elevator Co. for ten years, in engineering six years in Brussels, Belgium, where he represented Otis in the Benelux countries.

When he previously lived in Princeton, Mr. Trudel served for seven years on the Princeton Ship Board of Education, including two terms as vice president. He was also Chairman of the Community's pre-reorganization Joint Committee on Curriculum involving Princeton, Mercer County Community College.

a number of Mercer County school districts.

He continued his interest in education when he left Princeton and moved to Pennsylvania, serving as President of Action for Community College, Inc., a broad-based group of private and industrial citizens instrumental in the establishment of the Delaware County Community College in 1967.

Mr. Trudel now lives at 113 Princeton Arms North, Princeton.

GEODATIC NAMES BARISH
For Marketing Account, Geodatic, computer-based marketing specialists, located at 20 Nassau Street, has named Mort Barish Associates, Princeton, advertising agency, to handle its marketing communications.

Geodatic's computerized marketing services are based on their unique programming of geographic, demographic data, which enables advertisers and marketers to relate sellers to buyers with a speed and precision not possible before.

The company has developed and operates the REACTS reader service program used by Playboy magazine, and is currently offering a broad-based applicable marketing service, which enables manufacturers to integrate their marketing effort against selected targets.

TWO PROMOTIONS MADE

At Opinion Research, Jacob Katz and Sandra M. Spies have received promotions to the professional staff of Opinion Research Corporation at Princeton.

Mr. Katz, of Cranbury, has been named research assistant (statistical) after three months with the firm's data processing department. In his new position, Mr. Katz is responsible for statistical analysis of data as well as programming and data processing. He holds a B.A. in mathematics from Hofstra.

NEW DIRECTOR NAMED

For Greyhound Corporation, The appointment of William H. Sargent as director of marketing was announced this week by the Princeton-based Greyhound Corporation designers of instrumentation and control systems. Mr. Sargent will come to Greyhound from the Atlantic Research Corporation, where he directed research and development programs in jet mixing, combustion, area dynamics and flight dynamics. He holds bachelor's degrees from Boston University and Brown University, and has published extensively in his fields of research, and is a member of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics.

Mr. Sargent plans to move into Princeton with his wife and six children some time in the near future.

UNIPLAN RETAINED

For Witherspoon Hall Renovation, Princeton architect firm, UNIPLAN has been engaged to develop a plan for the renovation of Witherspoon Hall, 92-year old undergraduate dormitory at the center of the Main Campus.

Built in 1877 and currently housing 138 students, the building, which honors the memory of John Witherspoon, Princeton's sixth president, will be held vacant during the next academic year to permit the renovation. Jules Gregory, FAIA, will be UNIPLAN's managing partner on the project.

Formed in January, 1969, through the merger of three firms, Jules Gregory, Trettonic Architects and Design, Inc., and Busselle, UNIPLAN has undertaken a number of projects for colleges and universities, including residence halls at Douglass College, the Kilmer Library at Rutgers and the Mercer County Community College.

CONTRACT AWARDED
To RCA Astro, The Astro-Electronics Division of RCA, Princeton-Hightstown Road, is one of two companies selected by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to design two new Atmosphere Explorer Spacecraft.

The RCA Division and Hughes Aircraft of El Segundo, California, were awarded $200,000 contracts to provide specifications and proposals for the spacecraft. The new spacecraft will permit measurements to be made lower in the earth's atmosphere than previous satellites.

Sports In Princeton

tall of playing two of the east's best "back to back" began to show, and nine more goals were recorded by the home team in the last two periods. Providence is on the schedule Thursday night as the third road game of the young season. This is one opponent the Tigers topped last winter (6-2) on their way to a 3-18 season. The St. Nicholas Club, which still includes a few Princeton alumni, will play in Baker Rink next Tuesday at 8.

Good things come in small packages!

A pretty lot (complete with a big old weeping willow) with enclosed and very private back yard — only a skip to Littlebrook School. Here is a compact Cape Cod that's perfect for that "first house."
Bright, cheerful living room with dining ok; kitchen, with dishwasher, opening to pretty patio. Two bedrooms and fully tiled bath on first floor and big dormitory room on second. The basement is bone dry and perfect for snowy day activities. When the heat of summer comes, you can keep cool with central air conditioning. Garage and mud room.
Ideally priced at $31,900

Ready for the holly wreath

What could be a nicer gift than a brand-new two-story colonial set way back from the road, flanked by tall trees and a bordering stream. A perfect floor plan — formal living room with fireplace, paneled library, wonderfully big family-kitchen, separate dining room, an extra study-bedroom plus 1 1/2 bath. Four double-sized bedrooms and 2 more baths on second floor. This lovely house is conveniently located only minutes from town and a perfect buy at $47,500 to plant later along the road frontage and transform our newest listing into a winter wonderland. This traditional two-story colonial in a prime Princeton location is in excellent condition and offers gracious living. A Back-to-front living room opens to a large screened-in porch, big formal dining room, sunny, good sized kitchen, four bedroom and 2 1/2 baths. A real "plus" is a wonderful paneled rec. room in the basement — ideal for leisure parties. Here is a western section buy for

THREE ARTISTIC HOUSES

A PRINCETON WILDGARDEN: Banked with pachysandra, studded with rocks and wound with paths and handmade stone walls, with a shimmering lily pool to reflect the primeval trees overhead — the perfect foil for this rambling Township house. Few rooms, but large, include: a richly paneled living room with fireplace, wall of bookcases, and door to a terrace; dining room, also opening to the terrace; cheerful, well-equipped kitchen; bar; and brick-floored garden room, with high ceiling and wall of glass. There are two bedrooms, one on the ground floor with its own bath, and the other, up a winding stairway from the garden room. The latter is enormous, enjoys a woodsy view through a wide window wall, and boasts the plushiest bath-drawing room this side of Hollywood. Not without flaws, but it could be a dream for a couple, or a bachelor. Offered here for the first time at $69,500.

A CHRISTMAS HOUSE: One of those delightfully cozy places that always has a festive air about it, will just exude a cheery sort of charm when both hearth is lit and the stockings are hung. An artful combination of 18th and 20th century design, it consists of two living rooms, gallery dining room, modern kitchen, first floor bedroom and bath, three second floor bedrooms, and two baths. On three wooded acres. $62,500, with additional land available.

HILLSIDE CONTEMPORARY: Overlooking the Stony Brook valley in Western

2 Teachers Began Sex Education 20 Years Ago

Sex education in the Princeton public schools? It's been going on, quietly and successfully, for 20 years.

Two teachers, both now retired, pioneered in sex education in the Borough school system around 1950. Nobody objected.

In fact, the sixth-grade class was started because parents asked for it, and the first-grade class was so popular that parents used to try to have their children assigned there.

Mrs. Constance Brook, who retired in 1960, taught first grade at Nassau Street School. She began to introduce sex education into the daily routine in 1950 and continued "for about 350 kids," until her retirement ten years later.

Mrs. Sarah B. Harris, meanwhile, began in 1951 to incorporate the study of human reproduction into her sixth-grade science classes at the Borough's Quarry Street School. With the Borough-Township school merger, she moved to Community Park School and in 1967 was appointed to a committee assigned to work out sex education plans for the entire Princeton Regional School system.

Attitude Is Important. Although Mrs. Brook had first-graders who were just beginning to open the door, and Mrs. Harris had sixth-graders old enough to be studying science as a separate subject, both approached sex with the same philosophy:

"We studied about where babies come from just the way we studied other things, like what makes the wind blow. Never any special stress," Mrs. Brook explains.

"Matter-of-factly — that was our approach," says Mrs. Harris. "The way it's handled, in fact, is more important than whether a child remembers all the facts."

Long Ago. First-graders who watched the canaries mate in Mrs. Brook's 1950 classroom are now married, many of them, and some already have children.

Mrs. Brook still has her homework. The familiar white sheets with those blue lines about an inch apart were pasted on construction paper now brittle and faded with age, and illustrated with yellow crayon pictures of mating canaries.

In big shaky first-grade printing, the youngsters wrote about "my mother and father" and how "they had a very nice home and wanted a baby. Mother had a tiny egg in her body like this picture. Father had sperm in his picture."

PIONEERS IN SEX EDUCATION: Boys and girls who are now married with children of their own, received sex education in the Princeton public schools from these two teachers, both now retired. Mrs. Constance Brook (left) taught first grade and Mrs. Sarah Harris (right), sixth-grade science. Both were in the former Borough school system.

In both the first and sixth-grade classes, the teachers made a point of using correct terminology.

"We never used slang or baby-talk terms," Mrs. Harris emphasizes. "You refer to 'an arm' or 'a foot' so why not use the accurate names for every other part of the body? I never encountered any particular embarrassment from the sixth-graders over terminology. This was a science class, you see, and they always felt very grown-up when they used the right scientific term for anything."

"At that time, almost 20 years ago," Mrs. Brook recalls, "it was almost impossible to get sex material at first-grade level. I worked out my own presentation of the factual material. This was somewhat radical in that day; sex was such a hush-hush subject!"

Mrs. Brook always conferred with parents and explained what she was doing. Mrs. Harris began to develop her course of study after parents in 1949, formed a Social Hygiene Committee of the P.T.A. and asked her to lead the group because she had had so much hygiene courses at Trenton State.

Her work evolved to such extent and depth that it became her 120-page master's thesis, and under the title "Sex Education in the Elementary School," with "Special Reference to a Program Integrated with Sixth Grade Science," was accepted by Trenton State in 1951.

Both teachers emphasized the responsibility and loving care of parents toward a baby. One 1950 first-grader, now a 25-year-old housewife, described her own birth in accurate clinical detail, ending with her mother's joy and her father's pleasure that he now had her to care for.

"Consideration for your own and the opposite sex, the responsibility of parents and an appreciation that re-production is a natural, universal phenomenon — these things were important in our classroom work," says Mrs. Harris.

Today, in Princeton's public schools, sex is still integrated with the rest of the curriculum. In seventh grade, for example, First Aid is studied along with Human Reproduction. In the second grade, they learn "Care of the Teeth" and "Human and Animal Beginnings." In fourth grade, "Bicycle Safety" and "How Babies Are Made."

It is an integrated, factual approach in direct line of descent from the philosophy practiced by the two pioneers 20 years ago.

MRS. SAGE HONORED

For Red Cross Service. The Board of Directors of the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross has adopted a resolution citing Mrs. Geoffrey E. Sage, 84 Jefferson Road, for her long service to the Princeton Chapter. Mrs. Sage devoted nearly two decades of full time service to the chapter, beginning in 1946, and also did part time work for the last few years.

The resolution reads: Whereas Mrs. Geoffrey E. Sage has served the Princeton Community long and faithfully as Executive Director of the Princeton Chapter, American Red Cross, and Director of the Red Cross Youth; and

"Whereas, her retirement was reached on October 1, 1969. The Board of Directors of the Princeton Chapter, American Red Cross, wishes to express its appreciation and sincere thanks for her dedicated service to the ideals and aims of the Red Cross."

DOLLS AND TOYS from around the world will widen the eyes of the children and make dad and mom want to purchase everything for Christmas at the VENDOR SHOP.

Dolls doll houses and furniture will make the perfect gift for that little girl on Christmas morning. For the bigger girls, whose hobby is collecting dolls, she will be delighted to receive a Madam Alexander doll dressed in her colorful national costume.

The boys will enjoy the imported English scale model autos by Gorgi, authentic in every detail, and the plastic soldiers by Britalia.

For boys and girls are the Steiff animals, Germana puppets, music boxes and Pinatas made for all occasions; also many games.

A timely Christmas gift from the VENDOR SHOP is a Snoopy Astronaut.

A PLACE you must visit is the VILLAGE ANTIQUES with its fine selection of hand painted and hand cut lamp shades in colonial designs and colorful floral, the handcrafting of some 20 local artists.

All of the antiques are original and include such items as a cherry bureau (circa 1800), 78" high corner cupboard (circa 1750 to 1800), desks, tables, chests and many other 18th and 19th century English and American pieces of furniture. What lover of antiques would not cherish one of these pieces as a Christmas gift. Other delightful gifts include antique china, glassware and a vast selection of oil lamps.

A specialty at the VILLAGE ANTIQUES is converting antique and old vases, lamps and oil lamps into electrical units.

SANTA IS COMING

With Santa's Fall of Toys Big-eyed little hopefuls with Christmas on their minds are crowding the counters all over town.

You see them with their noses flat to the Hobby Center windows, reaching for cuddly animals at Clayton's, toying with miniature diaries at Stuff 'n Nonsense, and gazing nearly out of their minds in Woolworth's and Zinder's.

The children just seem to be everywhere. We saw a young mother snatch her toddler away from the stoneware at Hobby House. "Don't touch it," she breathed in near panic, "or it's mine!"

A quiet contender in the world of pre-school children's toys is Playkool, one of the early ones to produce imaginative, durable wooden playthings. Allen's Children's Center on Nassau Street seems to have cornered a sizeable supply of Playkool toys, and we were impressed again by the reasonable prices.

Their cockier's "Nok-Out!" bench of 20 years ago is still available and still a marvelous floor toy for preeners in the age two-to-five groups. It's simply a matter of a mallet, colorful pegs, and a batch

Every Hobby Needs An Extra

If she's a master needlewoman, a certificate for the Swedish needlepoint designs at Princeton Decorating, Palmer Square, where the marvelous Mazonoff designs are available.

If it's asking, a sweater of heavy Icelandic wool, navy with red-and-white geometric design, Vanity Sports. Youthful model enthusiasts may go for a miniature done buggy, powered by a gas engine and equipped with a throttle, recoil pull and starter ($15.39); or the "Sand Shark" done buggy, a display model that comes three versions in one box: competition, street custom and tunnel buggy (stripped down) — at Nassau Hobby.

A love of antiques and painting combine in the National Heritage kits; paint wooden reproductions of old wall plaques and signs — such as wooden Indian, Chicago Fire Company, etc. $5.99 at Nassau Hobby.

And a creative woman will find endless uses for the wrapping paper from Denmark at Studio 12, Montgomery Shopping Center. The one with the elves is among the Christmas designs — so lovely that they deserve much more than use as a wrapping paper — frame them, make collages, or cut out for decoupage. 40¢ a sheet.

of holes ($3). Playkool also has other versions: a workbench ($3.50) and a pounding bench ($3) — all at Allen's.

The father who's looking for a marching drum will find one with snares, at Allen's ($2); and of course the famous pull-push toy called "The Cornpopper" made by Flister. The same firm makes a pull-toy that includes a xylophone ($2), and another that is a simple matter of three goodly little ducks towing along behind their old lady, who chats away ($4.50).

Stuff 'n Nonsense, on Moore Street near Nassau, has an enormous feel for the very young boys and girls. It's also

ANTIQUES

Why do we value them? Because they were made by men who look a deep and abiding pride in the work of their hands. And it is the essence of this pride, remaining forever a part of the work produced, that makes the antique priceless.

Both the pride and the product are all but gone today. But not at Cane Farm. Here humble and patient craftsmanship still re-creates the finest from our oldest and most revered traditions... furniture, lamps, floor coverings, fabrics. Here, too, your old things can be painstakingly restored, your chairs recaned or re-rushed.

Whether you want tomorrow's heirlooms crafted to your own specifications or you select from our extensive sampling of antiques and upholstered pieces, the product will, in every sense, be worthy of the name. ANTIQUE, in generations to come.

very real, about one hand high, covered in a close-cropped plush, Black Beauty ($3); a palomino ($7.50); and a wild mustang with a rifle attached to his working saddle ($11). And Camelot castle with ponies flying, a drawbridge and knights ($15).

Also a road repair set, complete with various trucks and figures of workmen ($1.25); and a similar set for a gas station.

Stuff 'n Nonsense abounds with stuffed animals, cut from cotton prints, many of them. There's a pink-and-white giraffe, and a blue-and-white penguin with a yellow pointed hat on the back of his head (about $3.44).

And there's the fat, red mouse with glassine ears. No legs to speak of, but what a big, sturdy pillow he is for a tired little head.

We loved the hand puppets: simple mitts to slip over your hand and amuse or coax a child while he's eating or getting tired. The figures are quaint.

Going over to the dolls, you'll see soft, realistic babies in ordinary dresses and knitted sweaters, or in bunnies. There are bouffant-skirted little figures from many lands, all with such winsome faces. Then, we were torn between a saucy young miss named "Chippie" in a pinafore and sailor hat ($8), and a braided young blonde in gingham. (The dolls seem to range up to about $15 at the most.)

And at Stuff 'n Nonsense are a number of easy games for children, when they're first ready to take on this kind of competition. We know of a preschooler who learned to count by playing Parchese. There are card games and throw-the-dice games and spin-the-arrow types. All easy to explain.

For a musical teddy bear, you must go to Clayton's on Palmer Square where you'll find him a lovable version in white ($5). And if you're keen on poodles, you'll pick the one with the red, French beret. He's lying down, of course ($4).

There are other very cute stuffed animals at Clayton's, some plush on the outside, others in quilted fabrics and whimsical design, such as the pink pig with a gingham nose and feet to match ($2.50).

Going on down to the Little Clothes Line on Palmer Square, we fell ardently in love with the musical toys that wave a tail or a head as the song goes on. There's a most appealing yellow-and-white giraffe.

And pink teddy bears with fat stomachs looking replete

To Delight The Chef

The easiest cheese grater we've seen — put the cheese in the round plastic can and grate by turning the knurled top edge. $3 at Happy House.

An apron with dish-towels and potholders to match — in gay, old prints. Our favorite was the chef's style apron in white, splashed with red and green mushrooms. At Princeton Gourmet.

Kitchen pots that can go to the table in Belgian Desecore (porcelain over cast iron). There's a sauce pan among them with a cover that turns into a frying pan ($16.98 at Urken's Hardware.)

A platt pan for Swedish pancakes is a most intriguing pan, in enamel-covered cast iron by Copco, who have an amazingly large selection of cookware that is very attractive. At Krosnick Interiors, Olden Avenue, Trenton.

with honey ("Honey is good for bears," Pook said), that some little girl will particularly cherish, ($9.95).

The Game Room on Nassau Street near Tulane has quite a supply of small children's toys, as well as some engrossing construction design sets, particularly in colorful plastic, for the older child.

Many of the toys are imported and quite unusual. A sizeable wooden truck, cut in the block style, is $4; and there are such things as red plastic trucks with visible action of the inner cog wheels; the famous Playskool building blocks ($5.69 up to $12.19 a set) that include small wooden passenger cars and people for the added natural look to a child's city.

Mothers may find themselves borrowing the Game Room's black enamelware set if they give it to their daughters. Four pieces, three with lids ($8.95). And for your budding carpenter, a wooden box, hinged on two sides for hand hanging, with real tools and many extras, such as a vise ($21.95). For a younger boy, the very much simpler, but very usable set at $4.95. Nails included.

 kits, projects and accessories for the school-age youngsters. You have to walk the aisles sideways.

Some enterprising parents will walk out of there with a bag full of balsa wood, paints, brushes, glue and wrap them up happily knowing there's nothing more needed to set fire to their boy's imagination. Inexpensive, too.

Others will solve the idle hands vs. mischief problem by picking up leather kits for wallets, key cases, coin purses, even neckties — all projects that are easy for children to make for Christmas giving. (Most are 25c to 88c.)

The Hobby Center is deep in the rocket age this year. It reaches a new height with its four-foot Apollo Saturn V — a scale model kit in plastic that sells for $10.20. When junior has put it together, he can use the box as a carrying case.

Some of the rockets are no dolls to make and display, others have motors that you buy extra. The Hobby Center will tell you where to get a permit. Department of Mines, we believe, in order to shoot off the working rockets. There's Honest John (remember him?) and a batch of others — and satellites, too — all that you've ever heard of. Prices in many are only a few dollars.

Since Princeton has a heavy share of families who round out their child's education at home, we should tell you that the Hobby Center has stacks of science kits — the Gilbert infactory set to chemistry ($5.99), which contains 13 chemicals, lots of necessary equipment and a booklet listing 100 experiments.

Also Porter's "Buccraft," ($9.95) and a geology lab by Skilcraft (no moon samples — but lots of rocks, and chemicals to identify rocks with, and a hammer for prospecting), $14.95.

The Hobby Center has telescopes in a wide price range, and a fascinating inventory of prepared slides (ever see a wasp's leg?) as well as blanks for the curious from Lake Carnegie.

It's hard not to get a little over excited at the Hobby Center, because you get intrigued by telescopes mounted on tripods, walkie talkies, miniature trains (the moon are fore square in front of the counter and the boys can't see over them), Scott's postage stamp albums and stamp offerings ranging from first day covers ($1) to a fat packet of U.S. commemorative ($2).

Stunt planes — the famous Sterling "Ringmaster" is now available in a "baby" version ready for assembly: 21" wingspan, $2.98; use with a Half-A engine. There's also a junior Ringmaster at $3.95.

The Erector sets are motorized now — a DC3 battery motor — and the cost varies with size of the set: $9.95, $19.95, $34.95. And there's a motorized space patrol car, the XKW, streamlined as any designer's wildest dream. In plastic, $4.98, and it makes sparks.

Girls are not forgotten at the Hobby Center, although the shop is more a haven for the boys, from the youngest model-maker up to and including granddads. For the girls, Indian bead craft kits with an intriguing wire frame beadloom and genuine Indian beads (for age 7 up); photo pictures to make from creel kits that contain whimsical outlines of animals, a clown, a scarecrow (98c); many handicraft materials and molds.

We've discovered that the girls like the scientific kits, too; although we're still a little surprised by the girl who asked for the kit that contained parts of the eyeball.

It's New To Us
triumphs usually include the time we came back from near-poverty to own Boardwalk and Park Place in Monopoly. And we always try to win modestly.

To all clenched teeth gamers and jigsaw nuts, we suggest a stroll around at The Game Room on Nassau Street. The choice there ranges from the mindbreakers to children's easy triumphs.

Our only quarrel with the Game Room jigsaw puzzles is that they all have the picture on the box. All but one. That is a round terror by Sprinkbok called "Red Riding Hood."

Wood. Every piece is painted red... a color you'll see for quite a while.

There's a big game in a huge box, called Jockey Eddie Arcaro's "Riders Up." The action, touched off by a throw of the dice, races horses around a track after you place your bets. Arcaro brought in 4,779 winners in his career, so there's a challenge here ($15).

People have stayed up all weekend over war games, and this is just to say that Stalingrad, Judland, Guadalcanal, and the battle of the Bulge can be fought over again safely at home. The prices are about $3+.

We saw the time-tested standards that young people you know may be old enough now to try. Monopoly (English, Spanish and German language sets); good old Scrabble; time-honored chess, checkers and backgammon (some of these in very nice sets); and cribbage boards.

But moving into the unusual or the new, we'd like to mention "Tri-ominoes," a relative of dominoes, only you form triangles. Younger children will like this one ($3.98).

And they can join with you in a curious competitive puzzle game called "Situation 4." This is for two-to-four players, ages 8 and adult. There's a map and you put puzzle pieces on when you can ($4.79).

The Swedish finish is very popular this year, by the way. This is a steel or silver look instead of the usual black or brass. Very contemporary.

The WFFN PROOF people are still hard at it, with mathematical and strategy games—most of them pint-size—for the thinkers in your circle. Frankly, we have found these cracked our mind. These are attractively and simply packed, priced about $4.

Games in beautiful woods caught our eye. For one player, for instance, "Solos" which is said to have intrigued George of England. The equipment includes a batch of amber marbles and a plate-sized round board pocketed with holes ($8.95).

Another in wood presents what is called the world's oldest strategy game. It's "Endeavour!" designed for two players. You'll be close to the early Mesopotamians when you lose the stones into the long, oval slab of wood, with indented bowls of various sizes. Simplicity isn't always easy.

Then there are the handsome Hoyle games, all in beautiful wood for your cocktail table. The challenges in each large variety concern moving bits of metal into patterns (about $3).

Also for the youngsters, an ouija board ($3.99) and "Madame Planchette's Horoscope Game" ($3.95). Uncle Wiggly puzzles, and others, geared to age groups.

Bowden's Insists

If you are uncertain about how to measure your fireplace for a snuggly-fitting screen, Bowden's Fireplace Shop at 1731 Nottingham Way, Trenton, will send someone to come and do it for you. They will also install the screen if you wish.

Mr. Bowden says that this service is unique in the area. They are a specialty store with much more than stock sizes and they insist that you have the proper size screen without spending an exorbitant price.

From Italy, Nassau Interiors has brought in sets of gift tables, nesting three in a unit, with a Florentine design in the center (About $50). They're decorative, but not too ornate. Other sets, in black holding four tables of various woods and lacquers range from $25 to $45.

Also from Italy are marvellous boxes and chests, some small enough for cigarettes, others large enough to be coffee tables or end tables. The wood in most is burnished with gold.

We also think that there are some who will find the occasional tables at Nassau Interiors very handy—these are small, for the side of an armchair—or oval tops on some ($65), or round, with tippy pull-out boards, or a drop leaf type for tea. All mahogany.

The holiday bar in beautiful rosewood at Viking Furniture has a spring action that enables you to push the section down into the base when it's not in use. Very roomy for lots of bottles and glasses.

We saw here the cube tables, same left in solid blocks, others with legs. Among the latter, one is white, with an inlay of walnut on the top. About 15' square; $24.95.

Viking Furniture also has Danish decanter, ranging from the low helled ship's decanter with a long, long neck, to the square and round sided Game ($3.95). Uncle Wiggly

Santa's Favorite People Are Very Young

Some of the highlights among the gifts for children: Playkool's "Tyke Bike," an indoor-outdoor kiddie car with a new twist — handsome metal hoops high on each side front. Ages 1-3; $6 at Allen's Children's Center.
 A white toucan lamp with a red (or blue) bill that moves according to where you want the light cast. A colorful whimsy from Italy. $12.50 at the Workbench, State Road near Cherry Hill Road.
 Santa himself, stuffed and aiseable, ($3.50); or a musical Tuffy dog wearing a Christmas green coat, $7.95; both at Lenox Shop, Lambertville.
 Or his very own Christmas china — a bowl, cup and spoon in white with a border of green trees and sweet children. $4 at Princeton Gourmet.

It's New To Us

 tall ones. Clear glass, elegant, simple; all $17.50.

There are unusual lamps at Viking, all contemporary design. The most fascinating is the "Selectalite," a reostat-controlled lamp of three bulbs set vertically against a slim, 3" metal reflector. The bulbs give up to 200 watts each. You turn them up for reading, down for a night light. The lamp fits into the eclectic look of today ($55).
 And the handwoven wall hanging from Bolivia is an eye-deceiving color. A brilliantly colored, an effecpasant woman and her pappoose are silhouetted against a white background ($35).

E. Bahadurian's oriental rugs are such an investment purchase that you'll appreciate M. Bahadurian's painstaking way of explaining the various traditions and designs, all so full of symbols.
 The names of the rugs alone are fascinating. Sarauk, antique Bokhara, Tabriz, a nomadic people whose sandy floors are more elegantly covered than ours; golden Afghan, Kerman, Ashle. The sizes are quintilly off the standard 8x12. Prices depend on size, age and so on. The shop is located at 883 State Road. Call Mr. Bahadurian for an appointment and he'll open up.

The Workbench on Route 206 near Cherry Hill Road, has developed out its own system for keeping a house attractively tidy. Its wall systems in meticulously matched walnut, teak or rosewood include shelves, cabinets, storage boxes, and stereo hiders, as well as paneling that shows in the spaces between.

Units can be bought singly, or several at a time, or an entire wall can be planned. "Believe it or not," we were told, "we have reduced the prices this year." In teak, a drop-front cupboard with four drawers (W36"-D28"-H16") is $75; a desk (W36"-D20"-H12") is $15, and shelves, including brackets are $11 to $16. Rails to attach the units to the walls are $4.50 for the 80" and $9 for the 80".

The wine rack at the Workbench is a grown-up's tinkertoys set, coming in simple sections of rounded teak joined by dowels. It's an add-a-section gadget that can be put together in any number of ways. The six-bottle unit is $9.95.

Hitchcock chairs that are glazed for hard wear may be found at the Furniture Barn, Route 1 at the Washington Road circle. Some are decorated (About $75).

We saw a pencil pushed through an indestructible Fabric called Orlon while we were there. Curiously, it didn't leave a hole. This, then, is for your hard-wear department at home, the couch and chairs in the family room. It is made of the same material as the indoor-outdoor carpets and is as wearproof as they come. We saw it on a very handsome rust-and-green plaid couch.

The Furniture Barn has more rockers than ever before all kinds; and a huge selection of lamps in the early America theme. Porcelain figures of the spirit of '76 at the base ($19.95), or white tole, with three lights ($36.95) for instance.

There's also an interesting variety of desks: a trestle style ($169.95) that would be handsome in the den; also drop lid or Winthrop in maple or solid cherry. A ladies' desk (smaller and gentler) is $179.95.

Bowden's Fireplace Shop, 1731 Nottingham Way, is one of our favorite homey shops. We were fascinated with a new fireplace in the den; also poker, tongs and log roller all in one. In cast iron $6.45, or with a brass top $14.50.

There's an immense number of post signs here. Buy one with your name and a very red cardinal or a pheasant on it ($21 & $24.95). Or huge wrought iron rings that hold your logs off the ground and yet allow them to weather ($10.95); and perhaps a serpentine fender of wrought iron rimmed with brass ($90).
 And of course, crossed swords for above the fireplace and family duels ($12); to be safe, there are some attached to a center shield.

Entertaining Needs and Gifts

Each year, we are undecided whether we prefer the Spode or the Lenox Christmas plates. They're both at The Cummins Shop on Nassau Street. Various other dishes come with the platters. People seem to buy a piece or two each year for their set. The large platters are sized for hors d'oeuvres, as well as for Christmas dinner.
 And Studio 12 in the Montgomery Shopping Center, Rte 206 at Rocky Hill, has a most attractive straight-sided punch bowl with 12 glasses. Very contemporary in look, traditional in use ($24).

There are also corks that (Continued on page 40)

It's in the Bag!
There's nothing like putting a bag to good use. In sturdy Christmas wrap paper, for instance, huge bags with drawstring tops for that crazy, odd-shaped present you can't wrap any other way. In smaller sizes, too — all very attractive. (Up to 98¢ at Happy House, Princeton Shopping Center.)
And, in cotton, quaint bags for children's pajamas: a blue-eyed rooster who's quite a beauty, or a green, plushy owl, touched here and there with white or a white kitten in a colorful gingham dress. Even the most complacent tiger you ever saw in Princeton. All zip open in the back, priced about $4; at Stuff 'n Nonsense, Mose Street.

It's New To Us
can be used as punch bowls or, with the lining in, for shrimp (the largest is $15); and then, in Kosta crystal bowls in three sizes, ranging in price from $3.50 to $18.50.

At The Country House, Nassau Street, where the fragrant of the candles leaves you impatient for Christmas, there is a very unusual scented candle that changes its fragrance from bayberry to cinnamon to peppermint. It is a 72-hour candle in beautiful layers of red, green and yellow, and quite thick.

C. Moose, bless him, also has the amusing "color glow" wax cups that the children love. Place one under the fire and watch the rainbow-colored flames. A dozen fat cups, $12.5.

The decorated candles are very elegant and beautiful. There's the famous partridge in a pear tree, painted in the wax-on-wax treatment on a thick, creamy white candle ($6 pair).

Candle rings for the dining table include gilded and bronzed fruits and berries in a ring of greens designed for a tall, thick candle ($2-$6). There are also very attractive paper placecards from Denmark, displaying two tall, beautifully decorated Christmas trees or bordered with little angels against a rich blue background (8 mats for $1).

Wandering down to Happy House in the Princeton Shopping Center, we found an awesome selection of party plates, napkins and tablecloths, all in paper, and very gay for Christmas parties. There are dozens of cocktail party patterns and also huge d'oeuvre plates. The designs include the customary tree, angels, kittens, and even just plain color.

Happy House has a generous size chafing dish in brass with a domed lid of copper ($24.95). And reproductions in good pewter of colonial coffee and tea sets. We saw a pewter tray we liked ($13.50), and a coffee pot with a wooden handle ($9).

The Royal Copenhagen and Bein Grondall (B&G) traditional Christmas plates are at Studio 12. (about $25 for the first, and $13.50 for the second.) and, You! also find here the Royal Copenhagen mugs, a line that started several years ago and worth collecting ($9.25).

And the enchanting annual contest spoon of the Danish silvermiths, given each year to the king. This year, the design features a Greenland (Eskimo) at the top. There are a few of the 1968 spoons available, too.

We went into The Lenox Shop near Lambertville (open Sundays from 10:30 to 6, by the way) and found old music box tunes recorded on 12", 33 rpm hi fi records. One in particular is devoted to Christmas, containing 19 songs and carols ($3.95).

This is a marvelous place to browse around for house gifts — for yourself or someone else. Currier & Ives prints are in the upper portion of the split spindle mirrors, copies of the old time favorites, in pine and cherry: $11.50.
Yorktowne stoneware reproducing an early American pattern, in oyster white with a blue flower in the center. A 16 piece set for four is $13.95. Also at Lenox, lamps with a foot warmer base and pierced tin shades, or with candle mould bases; reproductions of schoolhouse clocks in antique pine finish ($39.50).

It's New To Us

In Princeton Shopping Center. There's a sensible-looking handle in the lid. Also, a roasting pan for chestnuts — for your kitchen or fireplace. ($2.50). We noticed that Davidson's had chestnuts this past week.

And if you need cookie cutters in the traditional Christmas designs, they're at Happy House, as well as candy and cookie molds from France and Germany. The canape and sandwich cutters come 10 to a package for $1.50.

There are many hard-to-find items in the culinary section there — butter molds (the acorn, flying fish, sailboat at 69 cents and $1.25). You can get a pie scalloper for your next mince pie, or a Philippine rice strainer with a wishbone tie handle ($1.25). And a collapsible strainer from France if you have a space problem.

Happy House has added to its line of cutlery. They have done considerable research on the sustained sharpness of high-carbon steel vs. stainless steel and still swear by the Sabatier knives from France. You'll see them in full array, everything from a wavy-edged fruit and vegetable slicer ($1.25) to wide-bladed cook's knives with devilish points (up to $5).

There's also cutlery from West Germany, made by the Slinger firm who produce surgical instruments, and imported by Alfred Zanger Company. The Zanger tools are professional chef's knives, too. They retain their edge for a reasonable time and they're easy to cut with. These are stainless steel, and recommended.

Gardeners Are People, Too

Gardeners get so devoted to their pots and mulches sometimes that nothing short of a fire in the kitchen snaps them back into the rest of the world. For these devotees, how about...

A muffin table, sized just right for holding three plants. ($29.95) at the Furniture Barn, Route 1 at the traffic circle.

Flowers of English bone china in lovely soft tones will add a touch of spring to the house. A group of pink carnations... $20 at Studio 12, Montgomery Shopping Center.

A magnificent brass watering can from the Lennox Shop, near Lambertville. ($13.95)

For high quality for those who don't want to scour their knives. The handles are Rosewood. And to go with a magnetic knife holder ($8.50).

At Princeton Gourmet Shop, Harrison and Nassau, we found canape cutters, nicely boxed, for $10; and a butter corer ($1); plus an egg sifter that keeps an egg from cracking when it is boiled ($1). Here also we noticed the estate, handdecorated sugar cubes — so pretty for a ladies' luncheon or tea. The (flowered cubes are the work of Berea college students. (16 cubes, 75 cents).

Christmas Music

New recordings of Christmas music by the Kings College Choir and the St. John's College Choir are at the Music Center on Palmer Square.

And in contrast to the Baroque, Peter Seeger's "Traditional Christmas Carols." Or "Swatched on Bach." The show tunes of course include "Salvation," the wild rock beat of "Hairs" and others.

The stereo department at The Music Center has the Harmon Kardon 20-20, an all-in-one unit models that includes speakers, receiver and phone. There's also high quality components in KLF, Panasonic and Accoustic Research equipment.

We have a not-so-private opinion that cassettes, due to their very compactness, will soon completely replace phonograph records. The Music Center has a full line of cassettes to browse through. To make your own, the recorders start at $29.95.

Out in the Montgomery Shopping Center is the new Stereo Center, where you find everything from stereo earphones (what a blessing!) in the $15 to $90 range, up to and including the custom-made Andrea "Theatre in the Round," a color tv and stereo in teak that swivels on its base ($1695).

For the psychodeic mood that may hit the youth in your family, an audio light box that connects to any stereo system. As the music plays, different light patterns are created in green, red, yellow, and so on.

For the man who is really serious about his tapes, a reel-to-reel tape recorder offers great flexibility. By Sony at $119 up.

The Stereo Center carries a portable cassette recorder with AM radio made by Nivico, a Japanese firm founded in the Thirties by RCA Victor. You can record your favorite radio program and play it back. ($49.95).

And for the ultimate in speakers, 360 degrees output from hanging spheres by JVC. $360 the pair.

For Men Shopping

The tartan plaid cap that is becoming so fashionable among men can be found at the Army-Navy Store on Witherspoon Street. And there is a good selection of gloves and wool hats in case tartan leaves him cold.

Army-Navy offers a compromise between your good sense and your young son who refuses to wear a coat, no matter what the temperature. This is a shirtlike jacket in a blue, olive and white plaid, warm as toast.

It's New To Us

sweaters there, a new one with polyester in red, heather tweed and a mock turtle neck in blue are among them.
You'll find boys' and men's sizes at Army Navy, no matter who you have to fit. Lots of slicked-off flannel shirts, and some very attractive dress shirts.

Moving over to Bill's Men's Shop on Witherspoon and Spring Streets, we were attracted by the meticulous care shown in the making of the Italian knit shirts. They are double-knit, with perfect collars. It's the workmanship that counts. All of the Italian knits are in multiple colors, used in interesting but not flashy ways. Some zip, some button, others slip-on. All pure wool.

They sell a lot of the ski sweaters at Bill's Men's Shop. There's an interesting houndstooth weave on a V-neck sweater; others are good heather weaves. Most are in solid color, with a contrast at the neck and across the midsection. Price range is $7 to $19.

Bill's also has about 1,200 pairs of slacks, including the new "stovepipe" trouser with the side-slanted pockets ($11). The sweater selection is equally great, ranging from the size that will fit a 100-lb. boy up to the 230-lb. man. All the sweaters are machine washable.

Going over to Saks Fifth Avenue, on Nassau Street near Palmer Square, we saw tartan plaid slacks, including a Gloucester of red, green, blue, and yellow against a black background ($38). They're all very Guardman.
Also a velvet turtle-neck sweater with ribbed neck and cuffs. This comes in burgundy, with blue and white stripes, or in blue, striped with gold and white. It zips up the front and looks very plush and warm ($13.50).

Saks Fifth has black moulin for coats this year, double-breasted in a street length ($27). The man in your life will look very well in one.

They've not been able to find the line on narrow neckties, and so the shop is filled with lots of wide ties in solid, stripes, club-style, paisley, and so on. (About $2.50 to $5.50). And there's a handsome silk foulard in a bright blue-and-white abstract design to blink your eyes at. Saks is conservative, but still with it. Among the miscellany of things at Saks that pleased us were a rabbit fur hat with ear flaps that can be tied up or worn down ($22.50); blue suede slippers with a pile lining ($14); and a handsome pair of slippers in red calf-skin ($16.50).

Sugar Plum Clothes

Children's things are as win-win as ever this year. It's fun to see the little wisps of velvet or organdy or chic knits. Boys' clothes are blossoming out in good color and new woolsens, and of course, there are always the brother-sister outfits for special parties and Christmas day.

The Little Clothes Line on Palmer Square is still a grand mother's delight. We saw here clear pinafores from Denmark with trimmed pockets and edges — marvelous to cover a pretty dress, because it shows through. $3 in toddler sizes and $6.

Festive for Christmas is the pair of red corduroy overalls that come complete with a small, stuffed spaceman for a youngster to play with ($3.50). And the bibs for baby, with trees or a reindeer embroidered on them ($1.75).

There are many dresses and little shorties for boys to choose from, and fortunately, only a few of a kind.

A Stitch In Time

The Fabric Shop on Chambers Street insists that you can make a calan in an hour. This is a long, flowing at-home robe that also makes a wonderful evening wrap. It depends upon the fabric.

Orlon fleece with acrylic pile comes in a red, red, aqua or gold for $17.50; a calan is only three pieces, 60" wide, $17.50.

Or, the Fabric Shop says, make a hostess skirt velveteen because you don't have to line it, or the "wet look" fabrics — no lining there, either. Choose bonded acrylics and bonded wools, more durable and even color patchwork. We tell a customer how to shape the skirts. A pattern is a dollar worth!

While you're there, you'll see some excellent handknits for infants — a white pixie hat and mitten set, for instance, with red stripes and pom-poms ($3.95); and a red-and-white striped sweater, cap and bootie set for a rambunctious boy ($6.75).

Allen's Children's Center on Nassau is geared for the infant on up through youngsters who wear sizes 14 and 16, maybe larger. We saw boys' sweaters there that we liked very much: easy-fitting, radian sleeves in heather wool mixtures ($8); a crew-neck sophisticated black, with a red, white and grey design at chest and cuff, made by McGregor ($9). The boys are wearing argyle knits, too, this year.

And neekies for the holiday parties are quite conservative at Allen's. Made by Rooster, the designs include sailing ships against a rust-colored background; pheasants and ducks from an old print; a fragment from an antique music manuscript. ($2.50).

For toddlers, we noticed some brother-and-sister knits — merry and-and-white stripes on a girl's jumper, with an elephant on a scooter applied on the hem. The boy's overall match. Both are worn with white knit tops, made mock turtle-neck style ($8).

And overalls for boys and girls, in knits or wool tweeds, all in gay colors, paired with coordinate knit shirts. By Rust 'n Boots and Carters, these come in sizes 2 up to 4, priced in the $6 to $10 range, and are very charming.

Hand-smocked dresses by Polly Plinders are traditional for the little-girl look. We saw them in various sizes. One was bright red, smocked with white thread and green accents, with white collar and cuffs ($8). Many are in very feminine prints.

For the contemporary look in a size four, red corduroy, irregularly corded. It's a flared little dress with long sleeves and white linen collar and cuffs ($10).

A school age girl will like the Cinderella knit dress in gray, with a grouping of red and yellow bands at the center front, center back, and under the arms. Made in a stockinette stitch with the lines going around. It has a turtleneck and a belt ($10).

For a demure girl, rich apricot print, smocked in white, with a hint of white lace at the edge of the long gathered sleeve and at the neck band ($12).

At home and nightwear for the youngsters includes a fascinating quilted pants robe for girls in a red-and-navy lattice check. There's a touch of white rickrack on the sailor-collared collar ($8). The pants are enormously wide and chic.

Girls pajamas this year feature wide pantaloons legs in soft knits. Imagine orange, white and spring green stripes pulling into bed.

We liked the girls' flannel housecoats in quaint garden prints, some with an inset yoke of ruffled lace ($10). Others are puff-quilted nylon.

Boys' robes are living up, we think, with paley prints and stripes added. These are all in corduroy. Others are

"This House Needs a Present!"

Leah L. Jefferson's drawing board plans for a Grand Banks fisherman are etched in white on the slate-topped mahogany coffee table, at Nassau Interiors. The legs are X-shaped, for plenty of floor room. ($89.50)

You can see yourself 100 times in the mirror-painting at Viking Furniture. It is composed of 100 convex mirrors set 10 by 10 in a black frame. A very contemporary piece. ($199)

For Spanish delight, a black wrought iron hot holder from Spain, embellished in a most marvelous way. A very different and gay piece. $36 at Bowden's Fireplace Shop, 1731 Nottingham Way.

Wedgewood's "Flying Cloud" earthenware, Lovedale, in a gray background with the ship in a rust red. 5-piece place setting, $19.95 at the Leanox Shop, Lambertville.

solid corduroy, edged in white.

And for infants, we were pleased with the Carter's "Jamaican" at Allen's — a coverall, including the feet of cotton and stretch nylon ($1.50).

Going up Nassau Street to Merry Mites-Gay Sprites, we found here some charming things in sizes toddler 2 to 6X. A bright green velvet dress with short sleeves, accented by two tiny white flowers applied by the neckline ($13 — also in black, brown or royal blue in most sizes).

Merry Mites has a darling moppet-size dress in a pale blue knit. There's lace trim at the neck and on the short sleeves, with a pale blue ribbon running through. Also in navy with a red ribbon ($18).

For brother and sister: a red knit dress with navy racing stripes down the long sleeves and on the bodice ($16), and a matching two-piece suit for a boy ($18).

There are velvet jumpers with a yoke neckline and a deep front pleat — in green, royal blue, red or black ($10.75); and for brother, matching short overalls ($8.50), to wear with a ruffled blouse.

The neglected group who wear sizes 7 to 14 are hard to find clothes for. Merry Mites has a special "Sealed with a Kiss" department which it calls SWAK where you'll find very compatible clothes for young girls in this size. They're a little more sophisticated than the "same old thing" they've been wearing but they're not teenager, particularly, in design.

Here we saw an attractive white dress in a homespun sort of weave, accented with red and blue stripes interestingly spaced, and a belt ($18). Also a soft dress with a drop waist and puffy skirt. There are short sleeves and button trim. Comes in lively colors. ($10.75).

Or, perhaps she'd like terry cloth slacks, striped horizontally in navy and green against a white background ($7.25); or a navy cape with red scalloped trim — a matching beret.

FROM TOP: TERRY's tresses cover woman and piece of busbie served by the Princeton post office. By their own figures no other Princeton newspaper does half as well.

Going Glittery For The Evening

It's time you gave yourself a great new look, with something posh that goes out for drinks, stays on for dinner. We roamed through Mayme Mead, Clayton's, Bride's Shop, Case, Bailey's, and the 2nd Look, turning up some extremely pleasurable things.

At Mayme Mead, where the sizes go from 8 to 18, plus a few 20's, we dreamed a little over a yellow silk-and-worsted dress and jacket with a marvelous sunburst of brilliants at the dress neck. The jacket is simple and the A-line skirt has slit side pockets for assurance.

In long, matt jersey, a fabric that hasn't been around for a while, a black dress with gracefully draped yoke that is shoulder deep, and a long fringed belt. The back is open to a mere two inches above the waist.

For some, it will be the luscious apricot-and-gold brocade two costume (dress and jacket), belted with a chain of gold coins. Others will yearn for the dark blue velvet with a Byzantine embroidery in gold, studded with pearls and blue stone at the neckline. The sleeves are long, edged with a white satin band, a motif repeated at the neck.

Cruise and spring times are coming in every day at Mayme Mead's and you'll do well to square away your needs early. Explore the marvelous Lappon cloth that one of her designer lines uses so well.

Clayton's on Palmer Square is party-minded, too, and here you'll see a handsome velvet jump suit in pale blue with wide cutout pants ($33); a very sleek long dress in pink crepe, with a roll collar and nicely flared bodice. Touched with the glitter of Rhinestones, $60.

In a short dress, Clayton's has a nice variety to browse through. We found the pink silk-worsted dress and jacket very fetching ($60).

For length and glamor combined, a long silver dress with a metallic design soft blue ($45) — or a red velvet culotte ($36); and a marvelous long skirt in lavender plaid silk.

Clayton's has some exquisite dressy sweaters. In white with trim, or with embroidered flowers (both $30). Or you could buy a soft cashmere and then wander over to the notions department for the appliques that will complement your marvelous new skirt.

If you want to make an evening skirt along jiffy drapery lines, Clayton's have found some dazzling sari-type fabrics shot with metallic thread. There are printed velveteens ($25/yd); broadcases ($2 to $12/yd.); and transparent velvets — a see through material with velvet designs ($27/yd in black, pink or rich blue).

The long velvet skirt in the beautiful, dark green that's so hard to find is at Bailey's, in Princeton Shopping Center. Drizzle style, to show off the sheen, and slit pockets hidden in the side. (Sizes 5-15; $22-90). Also in a rich, dark, plum purple.

With it, perhaps a tailored white lace blouse with long sleeves ($12-90); or a fluted cuff white crepe delicately trimmed with a double row of minute buttons down the front. Both are very romantic.

For the gal who's with it and has legs to stand the glare, an exciting minidress in red velvet — the long sleeves wide on suddenly at the elbow, ending in a froth of white ruffle ($13-90). Also in black for a long-haired blonde.

For at home, Bailey's tartan quilted skirt in red and blue, with a sleeveless black knit top. A fringe of red wool follows the front buttons to the hem ($9-90).

And, with an Indian maharaja in mind, Bailey's has an exquisite little dress in dark green, with gold scroll embroidery in two rows down the front ($24-90). It's a fraction more than a mini dress.

Bride's Showcase, in the Monticountry Shopping Center surprised us again with its party clothes. The cocktail dresses are shown only one in a size, although they can order promptly for you.

In the short dresses (size 5-6) there's a deep wine red velvet with lace at the edges of the full sleeves — a lovely, simple line to the whole thing ($25); and in a size 10, jewel trim at the neck, cuffs and waist of a very dressy metallic print with a medieval opulence to it ($110).

For the 11-12 size, an aqua chiffon with sheer sleeves and roll collar — very Grecian ($85); and in a regular 12, we noticed a pale blue jacket and dress in silk-worsted. There's a cotton lace bodice to the dress ($130).

Also in 12's, an apricot brocade that is very handsome, and in a 14, we add the white brocade — jewel trimmed at the slit neckline. High-waisted ($70).

And for a size 16, there are several luscious dresses waiting at Bride's Showcase — in yellow silk and worsted, and in a beautiful white and gold brocade. Both $90.

At the 2nd Look on Nassau Street, you'll like the long white skirt with black stripes woven in. Red fringe trim. Wear it with a red ribbed turtleneck ($23), and a black crocheted vest that ties in the front ($14).

Red crepe pants at 2nd Look come with a tapestry top in tones of gold and red. The sleeves and midriff repeat the red crepe theme.

And a white dress, gold embroidered, with the feminine feel of a sari. The belled sleeves have a marvelous gilt-

A Christmas tree that doesn't drop its needles? It's the Concolor tree, very thick and full, with an average height of about six feet. You'll see one beautifully trimmed just inside the door at Amble-side Gardens, Route 206 at Belle Mead (About $8).

Wide trim in gold, pink and turquoise ($35).

In contrast, a sleek little flatterer in black, touched with gold braid at the neck, waist and sleeves ($30).

They have Guatemalan wedding chains at Gallery 100, Nassau Street, delicate metal rings formed into a twisted chains. ($10 and $18) These are beautiful pieces.

Also, for the fun of it, give someone a belt made of beads from the flamboyancy tree. They come in all colors — green, pink, yellow and brown mostly ($6).

You never know what you'll find at the Gallery — Hippy hippie, an iron and wood sculpture from a New Hampshire artist ($20), or a Bent Buck.

A BODICE FOR BEATRICE: Costumes and scenery will make an ornate production for Shakespeare's "Much Ado About Nothing," scheduled to move into McCarter's repertory this Friday, with a subsequent performance Saturday before the witty comedy moves out into the main repertory stream. News Of The THEATRES

TRIANGLE FALLS SHORT
 Production Is Disappointing. If you like the Miss America Pageant, you'll love the Triangle Show, soon on tour throughout the country. Not that there are that many beautiful girls (only six), but there is plenty of good old American mediocrity.

If you find yourself laughing frequently at jokes about homosexuals, or looking with a knowing, confidently heterosexual, leer at the new university coeds, or if you give a lot at lists of the war dead, then the Triangle Club Show — the racist (?) title is "Call a Spade a Shovel" — will fill your heart with pompous posturing aimed straight at your warped funnybone. Pompous? Why, it out-Agnews Agnew! The evening of satire, songs and dancing at McCarter last weekend showed great superficiality, little inspiration, and less taste.

It is a curious phenomenon, as a matter of fact, that even so broad and obvious a target as the Nixon administration, which is particularly helpful to jokesters, is barely bruised. It isn't even pinched much. What's wrong here? I think it's the anathema of the times: money, power, ability and no imagination.

Tradition of No Avail. The New York Times notes that $10,000 was or will be spent on this Triangle Show. Maybe that's one thing wrong.

No matter how much is invested in purposeless and shoddy stuff, or no matter what claims to past greatness a famous history can bestow, the substance comes through loudly, clearly and offensively. And when the substance of the "entertainment" lacks imagination, sensitivity, and taste, the money spent on it can only make the show more and more obscenely. It is as one of the songs says, this generation is going to make some changes, it could begin by distributing its money better.

THE LION IN WINTER is Henry III of England, covered by young King Philip of France. The issue is the heirloom to the English throne. The cast: Peter O'Toole and Timothy Dalton (above), Katharine Hepburn as Queen Eleanor, and John Castle, Anthony Hopkins, and Nigel Terry as their sons. At the Playhouse this week.

left the Triangle Show offended and angry. And if Triangle was not attempting to be funny (a legitimate possibility), it should not have insulted the intelligence of its audience by making its intentions so ambivalent and its stance so unclear.
A bad review? Yes, for both of us. Triangle and me (I'm sorry to be negative). But one hopes that something better can come from the considerable energies and funds given over to this production in the future.
— David Carr

WIT! ROMANCE!
"Much Ado . . ." Set in early 16th century Italy, McCarter's forthcoming "Much Ado About Nothing" is promised as an ornate, bawling and romantic production, as well as the witty one the Shakespeare text lends audiences to anticipate.
John Lithgow is directing a cast headed by Kathryn Walker as Beatrice and Robert Blackman as Benedick. The pair who spar their way to true love.
The confused Claudio will be Douglas Smith and Holly Vitell will be his Hero. Richard Mathews as the country constable Dogberry will try to patch everything aight.

Mr. Lithgow also promises a great, big musically-inclined cast, full of peasant types in billowing petticoats or glittering uniforms flouncing about a mount the giant wood carvings that will be used for the set.
Original music has been composed by Paul Alan Levi and original choreography by Jonn Lucas.

SKI
At McCarter. Landed a ski-plane lately? Vicarious skiing will be open to all at McCarter on Monday, December 29, at 8 p.m. when John Jay himself brings his ski adventure film, "An Evening with John Jay" to Princeton.

BRIGHTLY IS BACK

For Children's Show, the

as "Brightly of the Grand Can-Princeton Playhouse screen this Saturday at a special 1

The film is based on the award-winning best-seller by Marguerite Henry. It co-stars
Joseph Cotton as the hunter, and the adventures of the burr, a boy and the hunter are filmed in full color in the Grand Canyon.

Tickets are $1, available at scholarship program, now in its sixth year, currently benefits three children.

PRINCE

Batist Cassidy and the Sundance Kid (now playing) This is a highly entertaining western, directed with imagination by Paul Newman. Robert Redford, Katherine Ross, and the rest of the cast are excellent.
It is really a directorial tour de force. George Roy Hill
("The World of Henry Orient," "Thoroughly Modern Milie") uses a pocketful of cinematic devices in his romantic approach to the story of the outlaws, their relationship with one another and with the schoolteacher who loved them both.

There is a continual seesawing of tension and humor: the threatening violence of the early scene where the saloon keeper charges Sundance (Redford) with cheating ends in a laugh; what looks like a brutal rape scene turns out to be a caper; a rabid sequence where the prostitute lies on the bed pulling off her stockings winds up with Cassidy (Paul Newman) and Sundance running for their lives.

Violence is kept to a minimum, but when it explodes in the gunfight with the Bolivian bandits (the scene opens with an amusing language problem).
It is reminiscent of scenes in "Bonnie and Clyde" and "The Wild Bunch" in its intensity and starkness.

The film is visually beautiful; the fine musical score is by Burt Bacharach.

PLAYHOUSE

The Lion Is Winter (now playing) It's Christmas at the Chinn Castle, and the clash of two heroic characters, King Henry II of England and his queen, Eleanor of Aquitaine, makes brilliant drama out of daring to some even in this fragments of distant history.
Peter O'Toole and Katharine Hepburn are the proud and royal pair who tower above their contemporaries and their times.

In the fierce love hate confrontations of Henry and Eleanor, even in the anguished dialogue, they goad, threaten, insult, denounce, tease and enjoy one another.

Eleanor has long been confined to Salisbury Castle for leading a rebellion against her husband. On special occasions, however, the sovereigns unite, and so, on Christmas of 1183, Eleanor joins Henry at Chinn where the aging monarch must choose a successor from his three sons: Richard, Eleanor's favorite; Geoffrey, largely ignored by both parents; and John, the youngest, adored by Henry.

Also present are Henry's young mistress, Alais, and her brother, the 18-year-old Philip of France. The action moves with plots and counterplots by everyone. The film is memorably set in 12th century castles — bare, austere, real down to the mud and the chickens underfoot.

GARDEN

Midnight Cowboy (now playing) concerns the adventures of a handsome young Texan determined to get rich quick in New York as a hustler serving the lonely and love-starved people of both sexes. The episodes are variously comic, poignant and, on occasion, ugly and sordid.

Screen newcomer Jon Voight is the cowboy — tall, handsome, sensitive and vulnerable. He maintains an air of wholesomeness throughout all the untidy happenings that is remarkably touching and true.
Dustin Hoffman gives an excellent performance as the Times

Square derelict who first cheats and then befriends him.
The film is based upon the James Herlihy novel, which had a fair success, and the script is so faithful to the author's original that it may seem makes brilliant drama out of daring to some even in this fragments of distant history.
The director is John Schlesing. The film is "A Kind of Loving" and "Daring".

MUSIC In Princeton

MUSIC FOR CHRISTMAS
From Princeton High. All five Princeton High School choral groups plus instrumental ensembles, will join in presenting the annual winter concert of the school's music department. The concert will be given in the Princeton University Chapel next Friday, December 19. The instrumental prelude will begin at 7:40 p.m. with the formal part of the program beginning at 8 p.m.

The concert will represent the work of the many various vocal and instrumental ensembles at the high school. All five choral groups: Freshman Girls, Male Chorus, High School Girls, Choir and Madrigal Singers, will be under the direction of William R. Trego.

String Orchestra and Ensemble will be directed by Sylvan Friedman, and Brass and Woodwind Ensembles by W. R. Horner. Mrs. Nancianna Parrella will be the organist.

Highlights of the evening will be the choir's performance of Bach's "Magnificat in D" and the organ and String Orchestra's performance of Handel's Organ Concerto Number 5, Opus 4.

There will be the traditional candlelight procession and as always, alumni of the music department will be invited to join in the final two numbers, Bach's "Break Fourth, O Beauteous Heavenly Light" and the "Aallelujah Chorus" from the Messiah. The public is invited to attend.

CHRISTMAS MUSIC SET
For Trinity Concert. Advent and Christmas music for four choirs, instruments, harpsichord, and organ will be presented at Trinity Church in Princeton during an Advent Evensong this Sunday at 7:30 p.m.

Venetian Multiple Choir Motets and Chorales by Sebütz, Gabrieli, Scheidt and Praetorius will be sung by the combined choirs with brass ensemble, recorders, kortholts, cornetto, and stringed instruments.

Participating choirs will include The Trinity Choir of Men and Boys, The Trinity Adult Choir, The Girls' Choir, and The Princeton Chamber Choir. Conductors will include James Lilton, David Agler, Clinton Doolittle, and Larry Lydon.

Dr. Lee H. Bristol will be the harpsichordist, and Scott Trexler will be the continuo organist. Eugene Roan, acting head of the organ department of Westminster Choir College, will play organ Chorales and Intonations before the singing of each Motet.

The consort of early instruments was arranged and rehearsed by Jennifer Lehmann and Dr. Edwin Hopkins. Music for the Service and Concert was chosen from the wealth of music inspired by the acoustical setting of St. Mark's in Venice during the late 16th and early 17th centuries. The various choirs will be placed in all parts of Trinity Church, and each choir will be supported by an instrumental ensemble.

The Reverend James R. Whittemore, who will officiate at Evensong, has announced that Sunday's program will be the second in a series of five Parish Musical Services and Concerts. The public is invited to attend.

MESSIAH ON PROGRAM

At Musical Amateurs Meeting. The next meeting of the Princeton Society of Musical Amateurs will be held on Sunday afternoon, at 5 p.m. at the Unitarian Church.

The program, conducted by Professor J. Merrill Knapp, will be Handel's "Messiah." The soloists are: Jean Thomas, soprano; Carol Lewis, alto; Rufus Hallmark, tenor and Gordon Myers, bass.

Musically interested persons are cordially invited to participate in this informal reading which is not in any way a performance. Those wishing to participate should contact Mrs. M. B. Gottlieb, 921-7214, so that proper arrangements may be made for music and refreshments for which there is a small charge. Anyone wishing to join the society may do so at the door.

CHOIR TO PERFORM

At Rockefeller Center. The Chapel Choir of Westminster Choir College will be among the participants in this year's Rockefeller Center Christmas tree lighting ceremonies at 5:45 p.m., Thursday, in the Lower Plaza.

Others participants in this traditional event will be skating stars Richard Dwyer and Susan Berens of the "Ice Follies" and Terry Head of the "1970 Ice Capades"; Pee Wee Hockey players from Saranac Lake, New York; NBC sports commentator Kyle Rote; and Mr. G. S. Eyssell, president, Rockefeller Center, Inc. The ceremonies will be televised live over WNBC-TV.

The Chapel Choir, which has won wide recognition for its performances in churches, schools, and colleges, is comprised of young men and women in their first year of training at the college. During the second semester of each year the choir, under the direction of Robert Simpson, presents concerts in New Jersey and neighboring states, in addition to touring the East and Midwest.

ORGAN RECITAL SET

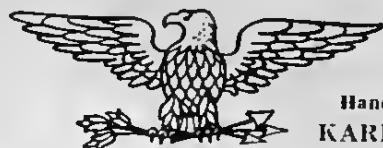

At Miller Chapel. George Moser, a senior at Westminster Choir College, will present the Thursday organ recital in Miller Chapel at Princeton Theological Seminary, beginning at 1:30.

His program includes: Lubbeck's "Prelude and Fugue in C Minor," Bach's "O Hail This Brightest Day of Days," Hermann Schroeder's "Kleine Praeludien und Intermezzi: 'Maestoso,' 'Allegretto' and 'Poco Vivace'" and "Two Chorale Preludes (Opus II): 'Es flog ein Taublein weibe' and 'In Dulci Pubilo'" and Alec Rowley's "Benedictus."

Dr. Edmund L. Diamond, 393 Madison Lane, professor of Religion at Princeton University and Master of Stevenson Hall, has been named one of 10 recipients of the 1970 E. Harris Harrison Award for Gifted Teaching, awarded annually to outstanding faculty members and teachers across the country.

Also, Denise Oliver, Anna Pool, Andrew Redfield, Diana Sherriek, Jeanne Siefert, Emil Swartzentruber, David White, Karen Winn, and Thomas Wolf.

Miss Christine D. Lear, 145 Nassau Street, an assistant professor at Trenton State College, has received an award for distinguished service and leadership from the New Jersey Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

A member of Trenton State's health and physical education department, Miss Lear was cited for 23 years of efficient service in her field. She holds a bachelor's degree from the University of Pennsylvania and a master's from Harvard.

Edward Leebner, a Princeton High School student, led his school's team to a second place finish in the second contest of the Delaware Valley Mathematics League, with a perfect score of 10. This scored 21 points, just one behind first place winner Hunterdon Central High School, and nine ahead of Exeter High School, which finished third.

Prof. Diamond Receives Award

Presented by the Danforth Foundation in St. Louis, the award includes a $10,000 cash grant for use by the recipient in study either in his own field or related areas.

Memorializing Professor Harrison, the Henry Charles Lea Professor of History at Princeton and a trustee of the Danforth Foundation, the national prize honors teacher scholars who excel in the art of teaching, in the significance of their scholarly contribution and in their concern for students as individuals.

Widely known as a teacher on both the undergraduate and graduate levels, Professor Diamond over the years has held a number of distinctive fellowships and awards, since joining the University's Department of Religion in 1953. He was promoted to the rank of Professor in 1968, the year he was named Master of Stevenson Hall, a new venture in undergraduate social, dining and study arrangements at the University.

Professor Diamond and the other 1970 recipients of the Harrison award were honored last weekend at a conference held at the University of Notre Dame.

Professor Diamond and the other 1970 recipients of the Harrison award were honored last weekend at a conference held at the University of Notre Dame.

Second Lieutenant G. Kevin Olsen, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Olsen, River Road, Belle Mead has been awarded a B.S. degree from the U.S. Air Force Academy on graduation at Williams AFB, Ariz. Following specialized weapons training there, he will return to his Air National Guard unit at McGuire AFB.

A 1961 graduate of Princeton High School, L.A. Olsen earned a B.S. degree from Georgia Tech. His wife, Carla, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fiabane, 31 Leavitt Lane.

Edwin C. Hutter, Van Dyke Road, has been chosen membership chairman of the National Association of Railroad Passengers. The non-profit organization supplies technical assistance and advice on rail transportation to government and the railroads. Its advisory board includes Senator Clairborne Pell, father of the northeast corridor high-speed rail program.

Critical congestion of American highways and airways is making the public more aware of the need for a viable rail passenger system, according to Mr. Hutter. The Passengers' Association has supplied technical assistance for a bill now sponsored by 89 members of the House of Representatives that would require railroads to "provide decent standards of passenger service," Mr. Hutter said this week.

A member of the technical staff of RCA Laboratories, Mr. Hutter also holds a seat on the Princeton Township advisory committee on low-income housing.

School Bus Safety — It's Up to You

Most school bus accidents are caused by human error, the New Jersey statistics show. Here are a few reminders from the Safety Committees of Princeton Borough and Township.

To Parents:

Children arriving late at bus stops delay the all-important schedule, as the driver waits for them. Insist that your youngster be punctual.

Accompany the very young child to the bus stop each morning and meet the bus in the afternoon. You don't know when he or she will take a notion to dart across the street.

Support the school rules for conduct on the buses. The parents' attitude in these cases are very important since it must be recognized that discipline is primarily a parental obligation.

To School Children:

Be on time. The bus must keep to schedule to insure the safety of all the pupils.

Stay out of the street while waiting for your bus. And be careful when you walk to your bus stop.

Wait until the bus comes to a complete stop before getting on.

Guard against crowding and pushing in getting on or off the bus. Someone might be hurt.

Stay in your seat on the bus. Moving around is dangerous. Never hang out the windows, or throw anything out of the window.

And remember to give your driver your courteous attention. The driver worries about your safety — and he's the captain in charge of your safe ride.

AFS SELLS CARDS

Host Families Sought for 1970-71. The Princeton chapter of the American Field Service is currently sponsoring a sale of Christmas cards.

Chairman of the project is Mrs. Thomas Hartman of Jefferson Road, and cooperating in the sale are A.F.S. clubs at Princeton High School and Princeton Day School. Cards may be purchased by contacting Mrs. Hartman at 921-6267, or Stephen Nuding of Princeton High School at 799-0034, or Meg Brinster of the Day School at 924-2446.

The Field service is also accepting applications from families wishing to play host to a foreign student during the next school year. Interested families should communicate with A.F.S. president Mrs. James Watson, at 924-5752.

RIFLE CLUB ORGANIZING

For Area Juniors. The Princeton area Junior Rifle Club will operate again every Saturday beginning January 3.

Offering instructions and competition, the club will be sponsored by the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association and the Citizen's Rifle and Revolver Club of New Jersey. All youngsters between 12 and 18 are invited to join, provided they reside within the Borough or Township or West Windsor Township.

Activities will consist of a small arms rifle course approved by the National Rifle Association, and a registered .22 caliber junior rifle competition.

All youngsters must bring to the first meeting a signed permission card from their parents. These cards may be obtained from police headquarters in the townships or the Borough.

The sponsoring organizations will provide match rifles for the club and N.R.A. awards for the competitors. Further information can be obtained from any of the following: Lt.

Richard V. Steiner, Sergeant Lester R. Anderson, Robert Westover, Ronnie Carrazzari, William Reitze, John B. Thomas, Alex Neschtscheret, Vern Kleiber, or Bert Spencer.

NEW RESIDENTS TO MEET

For Coffee and Gift Sale. The Rocky Hill Community Group will hold a Christmas coffee Thursday morning in the Community Center from 10 to 12.

All newcomers to the area within the past six months are invited by Mrs. Edward Townsend, chairman, to meet the members of the Group and the wives of Borough officials.

Guests will be shown the center and be acquainted with the activities of the Community Group. Included will be a demonstration of weaving on hand looms by some members of the weavers group which meets in the center.

Coffee will be poured by Mrs. Frank Bahr, Mrs. Benjie Brown and Mrs. Wayne P. Wilson. A Christmas boutique will be organized by Mrs. John Meggitt and Mrs. Charles Stabler in conjunction with the coffee.

Christmas ornaments, cuddly clowns, waterproof totebags with matching purses, various painted ceramic items and "The Millstone Valley," by Elizabeth G. C. Menzies are among the items to be offered for sale.

Y PLANS PROGRAM

To Celebrate Christmas. The Princeton Community is invited to celebrate Christmas in a program of caroling, and fellowship on Sunday at 4 p.m. at the Princeton YMCA.

The Princeton Choral Group will give a Christmas concert at 4 p.m. followed by all joining in an old fashioned community caroling program which will begin at Merwick on Bayard Lane, continue down Leigh Avenue to the Princeton Hospital, meeting at the Martin Luther King Memorial at the Baptist Church on John and Avalon.

Hot cider, Christmas Cookies and punch will be served by the fireside at the YMCA. A film for children titled "How the Animals Discovered Christmas" will be shown and a youth Christmas Drama presented to conclude the program. All are welcome for the entire program or to join the caroling along its route.

RIGHTS GROUP BACKED

By Lawrence LWV Unit. The Lawrence Township League of Women Voters has adopted a resolution urging the establishment of a municipal human rights commission in Lawrence.

The league's position states

The league believes that the Commission should be widely representative of the entire community, function as an advisory arm of the government, advance civil rights by seeking to eliminate prejudice and discrimination, and cooperate with the State Division of Civil Rights.

ART In Princeton

TWO ARTISTS SHOW
And One Lectures, Also.
 There is show of traditional watercolors by Hiroko Yoshikawa at the Present Day Club. This more or less self-taught artist has made great strides in her work. She is still working through some of the tightness that the medium of watercolor imposes on one, but in some of her paintings such as "Lake Carnegie in the Evening," there is the beginning of loose brushwork which shows a maturing sureness. Again in "Poppies" there is strong brushwork, plus nice composition and a real contact with color.

This artist is not afraid of color. The color in "Roots" is important and controlled. Yellow, which normally comes forward, is forcibly held back by the large dark tree mass, adding tension and impact.

In "Silver Moon" no. 1 and no. 2 the subject matter, which is masses of trees, is dealt with less traditionally. Interesting spatial relationship combine with accented negative shapes to produce a strong mood and a good painting visually.

Hiroko Yoshikawa is a promising artist. She has developed rapidly and one would hope that she will give to the traditional medium of watercolor something she can call her own.

Thomas George is the first artist to show his work and to lecture in the Chapin Art Series at Drumthwaicket. His paintings and lecture were equally direct and inspiring. He expressed clearly his motivations, methods and intentions as an artist.

He derives his inspiration from those aspects of nature which he likes and responds to. The finished work may be far from the source, but it will maintain the power of the source.

He works from drawings and draws constantly — his drawing is a glorified handwriting.

ing is a glorified handwriting. Mr. Nelson Shanks, a to him. He develops these well known portrait and figure drawings until there is a "vis-painter, who specializes in the use of realism, is American, maintaining the essence of the original inspiration.

In some paintings he is painting the space surrounding the subject matter and eliminating such visual divisions as the horizon line. He is trying to give us a visual expression of his deep feeling for the necessity of a unified world.

Mr. George pointed out that the artist is a free man totally captured by himself. He creates his work from beginning to end — a unique phenomena in this day and age — and is totally responsible for it. His aim is to open peoples' eyes and help them see the world in a new way. It is to be hoped that the people of Princeton will have future opportunities to view Thomas George's work for he has something to say and express it well.

WINTER TERM NEAR
 For Art Association. A wide range of small classes in painting, sculpture, watercolor, drawing and also workshops for children will be available as part of the Princeton Art Association's winter term, which begins January 12. All classes will be held at 14 Nassau Street.

The PAA suggests that a gift certificate for an art class could make an excellent Christmas present. For arrangements concerning this, contact the PAA at 921-9133 on Monday, Wednesday, or Friday mornings between 9:30 and 11:30.

A course offered by Gino Cecchini, on The Object, using paper, wood, and cloth has been scheduled for Monday nights from 7 to 10, and is open to all age groups.

For people not directly involved in the act of creating, who wish to increase their appreciation and awareness of art, Jan Swearer will offer a course on Tuesday mornings from 10 to 12 entitled, Art Appreciation, from the impressionists to the 1960's.

As a visiting faculty member for this term the PAA will ($45), and a Welded Ice Catcher, which we're sure John Bordon or Hal Burnett will explain to you.

Then, there are handsome blankets from Mexico and Peru (about $30), and on the other hand, a Japanese kite book with materials and instructions for making several kites ($3.40).

We saw, on the prowl, a snakes and swans wooden puzzle ($3.50); tin Christmas ornaments from Mexico, shiny and delightful (75c); and Sylvia Sydney's Needlepoint book and artists' needs, and hand-woven belts with long fringe ends.

Of course, there's the Under $100 show of paintings, graphics, prints and so on, which is what Gallery 100 is all about, really.

Going into Craig Miller Interiors on Nassau Street, we found mahogany nesting tables, a set of four, handcrafted in London along Chippendale lines. About 24" high ($135).

Poinsettia Greenhouses

Open To The Public

Hagerty, The Florist will open his greenhouses to the public on Saturday and Sunday, December 13 and 14, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. This event takes place just once each year. 125,000 poinsettias, in red, white and pink featuring 12 new varieties, will be on display.

Pictures may be taken, and the walks permit wheel-chairs to operate.

Hagerty, The Florist, is at South Main Street, Cranbury, New Jersey.

Time To See the Wide, Wide World

For Christmas, give her tickets that promise a look at another world. Here are four trips that a seasoned Traveler at Town Topics decided she'd like to try:

Twenty-two days in London, Paris, Vienna, Rome and Madrid, the American Express "Swinger 9" trip — a free-lance vacation that lets you wander alone at group savings. (from $518)

Or, 22 days in Eastern Europe: Russia, Poland, Rumania, Hungary, Czechoslovakia, Austria, East and West Germany — a first class tour loaded with extras; called the "Eastern Discovery" by AmEx; from $995 including jet fare.

A Club Méditerranée vacation in Agadir, Morocco, for 15 days plus a night in Paris; $599, through AmEx.

Or to Alaska, a seven-day cruise ship voyage from Vancouver to Seward, then by motor coach through the Canadian Rockies to Seattle. 24 day tour, ($875 and $915), depending on date. Westours Holiday 4, booked through American Express, Nassau Street.

browse through, and interesting old frames. And for the contemporary-minded, light-catching, free-form crystal, such as a Christmas tree pyramid. All are signed pieces (under $100).

We found dramatic zodiac sculptures by James Andrews in Nassau Interiors, in cast iron on thick wooden bases. (About $18). Thinking back, we saw at The Workbench an obtrusive chrome light, round as a grapefruit, that can be trusted to adhere to its magnetic base, whether you put it on the wall or the ceiling or any where. It would be fine to light up your favorite paintings ($19.90).

At Country Antiques, across from Cox's on Nassau Street, Mrs. Wadell was all excited about a Pennsylvania farm table seven feet long that she believes was made about 1710-50, and she says that antiquarian George Batten confirms this. She also has a Pilgrim chair, she's pretty sure about.

For collectors of Princeton University memorabilia, a Steuben vase with the University seal etched upon it. It was given to someone in honor of 25 years service. It's a discontinued design.

There's an old Bennington jug at Country Antiques, stamped with the name of Norton who started the firm; and a quaint agate-and-copper teapot ($35).

Wonderful old butter molds (about $20); cookie cutters and spoon racks at Country Antiques. You could put a red ribbon around three push-up candle sticks or some candle molds as a gift for a resourceful collector.

Practically next door is the Country Antiques' children's annex, where there is an amazing, four floor dollhouse, complete with a great assortment of miniatures, including a pipe organ that really plays. Mr. Wadell was on duty there, and he played it for us.

Here are the toys of long ago, a trolley car and an iron engine, a big wheeled tricycle from the 1890's, and dolls of all eras.

And there's a table of gifts for children to buy, all in the 50c to $3 range: old fans, tiles, bowls, plates, linen tea napkins and tiny dolls.

View the Skies

The second in a series of right open houses at the Princeton University Observatory will be held between 8:30 and 10:30 p.m. Monday in Peyton Hall. It will consist of an informal lecture and the opportunity to view the skies through the two telescopes located atop Peyton Hall.

If the skies are totally overcast at 8 p.m., the evening of the open house, the program will be cancelled. In the event of partial cloudiness, the lecture will be given and observing will depend on the status of the sky at that time.

More than 200 persons attended the first open house last month. Similar programs are planned for January 12, February 16, March 16, April 13 and May 11.

HUGHES LAUDS FORESIGHT OF "Y" Expansion Workers. Governor Richard J. Hughes recently commended the building fund committee of the Princeton area YMCA-YWCA for its efforts to expand the meaningful youth and adult activities available in the area.

Larger "Y" facilities, he told the committee members, will help bridge the gap between adults and youth, building a stronger line for communication within the community.

In this way, he added, the Princeton committee's efforts anticipate some advice on youth problems which he received at the recent Presidential conference on drug abuse and narcotics in Washington. "The expansion of the 'Y' here is a 'vital necessity, if we are to meet the needs of both parents and their children," Governor Hughes said.

Several sizeable contributions have been made already to the area building fund, according to chairman Ralph Mason. Mr. Mason also told members that he was "most impressed" with a two-dollar contribution that was the result of the fund-raising efforts of two youngsters. He estimated that contracts for the ex-

News of Clubs and Organizations

Merced Democratic Party, women's division, will have its Christmas Luncheon Saturday at 12:30 at the Geneva Inn on Route 1. The principal speaker will be Congresswoman Patsy T. Mink, of Waipahu, Hawaii, who is currently serving her third term in the U.S. House of Representatives. Mrs. Mink is a leading figure on the Labor and Education committees, and is known particularly for her Day Care legislation. She also belongs to the House Interior Committee and the McGovern Committee on party reform.

Honored guests also at the holiday affair will be Representative Frank Thompson (D-N.J.) and State Senator Richard J. Coffee. About 185 Democratic women are expected to attend the luncheon; tickets may still be obtained from chairman Mrs. Chester Arsenault or Mrs. Daniel Brenna.

American Association of Retired Persons, Chapter 459, year-end meeting Thursday at 7:30 in the YMCA, Dorothea Hotel, 120 John Street. All persons 55 and over are invited. Refreshments will be served.

Lawrenceville Grange 176: regular session at Phillips Avenue fire house Tuesday evening. A covered dish supper and Christmas party will be held by members and families beginning at 6:30, before the business meeting. Santa Claus will be on hand with gifts for the children.

During the business portion of the meeting, delegates to the recent state Grange Session in Atlantic City will report on highlights of that convention.

Douglas Alumnae Club: the annual Christmas sale of shelled pecans is under way for the benefit of the club's scholarship fund, which will award a $500 scholarship to a Princeton area high school graduate entering Douglas in the fall of 1970 as a freshman. The recipient of the Emily K. Post award for 1969 was Patricia Walker, a graduate of Notre Dame High School.

Fresh, shelled Georgia pecans may be purchased from the following club members: Mrs. Irene Goldfarb, 69 Balsam Lane; Mrs. Kathryn Hancock, 30 Wilmette Court; Mrs. Margaret Kregar, 6 Bearfoot Way in Lawrence Township; Mrs. Sonya Krayan, Bear Tavern Road, Pennington; Mrs. Edith Weiss, 14 N. Main Street in Cranbury; Miss Emily Post, 98 Westcott Road; and Mrs. Harriet Peterson, 25 Jefferson Road, chairman of the pecan sale.

The Woman's Club of the Princeton: holiday meeting Thursday December 18 at the Shrine Club on River Road at 1:30. All members attending should take along useful, unwrapped gifts for patients at the New Jersey Neuro Psychiatric Institute.

An unusual program of play

Rep. Frank Thompson

readings and reviews will be given by Doris Nafulin. Her repertoire is large and varied, including current drama, and such plays as "After the Fall" by Arthur Miller.

Hostesses for the holiday meeting are Mrs. A.A. Albert, chairman and Mrs. P.R. Shays decorations chairman. They will be assisted by Mesdames Akira Asano, B.E. Bergeson, Jr., C.H. Brown, R.D. Chalener, L.W. Coate, R.H. Dodge, J.C. Egan, W.B. Foster, G.W. Good, Jr., W.A. Harz, C.A. Hany, C.R. Irvine, W.G. Kayser, Jr., F.S. Kopp, W.E. Lawder, D.S. Lloyd III, J.C. McKeever, C.W. Mueller, and Misses E.C. Dilworth and L. F. Greswold.

Sweet Adelines: the annual Christmas party and reunion is Monday evening at 7:30 in the All Saints Chapel. Former members desiring to attend should make reservations through Mrs. Roland Fog at (201) 359-3879.

American Legion, Hopewell Post 339, is searching for saleable items for its annual Auction next May. Legions will pick up any usable items; from 466-616 Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings from 7:30 to 10, or call 566-1062 any weekday from 5 to 8. Proceeds from the Auctions are used for the community programs of the Legion, including veterans' rehabilitation, boy scouts, without activities, the Legion Scholarship Fund, and child welfare.

Princeton Photographic Workshop: Monday evening at 8 in the PMC Corporation Building on Route 1 north of Harrison Street. William B. Overby will describe the search for interesting pictures in the everyday environment.

Folk Music Society: Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Freiberg, 138 Herron Road, in keeping with

NOTICE
Those wishing to have articles published in the "News of Clubs and Organizations" column should submit them no later than noon Monday, the week of publication. Earlier copy will be appreciated.

the holiday season, this meeting will take the form of a house party with a solid evening of picking and singing. Coffee will be served, but cold refreshments and instruments should be brought to the meeting.

Dogwood Garden Club: Thursday at 11 in the home of Mrs. Harry Keiner, 32 Castle Howard Court. The December program will be a gift exchange and plant auction. Members are to bring two gifts, and the most beautifully decorated gift will receive a prize.

National Association of Accountants: Princeton chapter; dinner meeting Wednesday at the Nassau Inn, Frederick J. Harris, assistant comptroller of Dow Jones and Company, will speak on "Reporting to Management." Hospitality hour begins at 5:30, followed by dinner at 6:30. Regular and prospective members are always welcome.

Wellesley Club of Central New Jersey: Plans for the 11th annual Princeton Antiques Show March 19-21 were discussed at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Gordon R. Munger of Lawrenceville. Mrs. Munger and Mrs. Walter G. Munger of Princeton, co-chairmen, announced that the show this year will be held at the Princeton Day School.

The show's theme "Traditions of East and West" will be carried out in antique Oriental and Western displays, in dealers' booths, and in lectures by experts in both fields.

A special feature will be Japanese garden by Kale's Nursery.

Proceeds from the Antiques Show go to Wellesley College and to the May Margaret E. scholarship fund, which provides a scholarship each year to a freshman from Central New Jersey entering Wellesley. Committee chairmen present at the meeting were: staging, Mrs. James T. Beck; printed distribution, Mrs. Hugh K. Wright, and hostesses, Mrs. I. Richard Spicer, exhibitors, Mrs. George L. Mellor, Jr., Mrs. Anthony W. Garretson, Mrs. Everett B. Garretson, Mrs. Erling Dorf; program, Mrs. J. James Herrin; Mrs. Helmut Weynart; printing, Mrs. Richard Pearson; speakers, Mrs. Willin C. Armstrong; patron, Mrs. J. C. Gault; central, Miss Barbara Delany; Mrs. A. James Meigs; publicity, Mrs. Bryce Maxwell; and Mrs. William A. Stuart.

Princeton Ski Club: Monte Carlo Night this Friday at the Pine Brie Club. Included in the price of $3.50 is the buffet dinner and games galore. Reservations will get under way at 8.

Lawrence Senior Citizens' Club: members of the club will meet promptly at 7:45 Tuesday morning at American Legion Headquarters, 100 Beryon Place, Lawrence Township, for the scheduled bus trip to the Christmas Pageant at Radio City in New York. Arrangements for a luncheon have been made, more than 100 members will make the trip.

At the recent December 2 meeting, the officers of the club were re-elected for 1970: president will be Ray Rowland, vice president will be Martha Goodwin, secretary will be Ray Hillpot, and Don Mathews will serve as treasurer. About 70 members attended the business meeting, after which a covered dish luncheon was served, and eight club members with December birthdays were honored. The Girl Scouts and Brownies of Lawrence Township provided birthday cake and cookies. Committees and programs for the new year will be announced at the first meeting of 1970, which is scheduled for January 6.

COMMITTEE FORMED

To Promote Forest in Israel. Harold Staras and Melvin A. Benarde, both of Princeton Township are the co-chairman of a Princeton Jewish National Fund Committee to promote the planting of a Princeton Forest in Israel.

They believe that every new tree in Israel represents the desire of many men, women and children, often thousands of miles away, to see Israel reborn and flourishing.

To spur the realization of the Princeton Forest, Dr. & Mrs. Benarde, 45 Cuyler Road, will entertain at their home on Sunday, at 7 on behalf of the JNF. A select number of prominent people of the Princeton Jewish Community have been invited to participate.

In support of their efforts, Lt. Col. Ben Zion Shany, (Retired) of the Army of Israel, will discuss the current situation in Israel. Col. Shany served in Israel's War of Independence in 1947-48, in the Sixth Brigade under the command of Moshe Dayan, the Sinai campaign of 1956 as well as the Six Day War of 1967.

In the Six Day War, he was in action on the Syrian Front and participated in the capture of the Golan Heights. In 1968, Col. Shany was released from the army for a special mission to the U.S., on behalf of the Jewish National Fund.

PEACE FUNCTION SET

By WILPF. Women's International League for Peace and Freedom will hold two separate events Saturday and Sunday for the December observance of the Moratorium against the war in Vietnam.

There will be a recital of the names of war dead from New Jersey, in Palmer Square from 1 to 3 p.m. According to chairman Phyllis Suber, about

Melvin A. Benarde

Harold Staras

1,000 names will be read in unison, then placed in a flag-draped coffin. Arm bands will be distributed and a Stop the Killing petition will be offered for signatures, later to be sent to President Nixon.

A candlelight vigil is planned Sunday beginning at 7 in the evening. A solemn procession will walk from Palmer Square to the War Memorial for a quiet ceremony of appropriate readings and comment. Mrs. Elizabeth Borton, chairman, announced that the coffin containing names of the state's war dead will be used in the ceremony.

SCOUTS SELLING TREES

In Palmer Square Sale. Christmas trees are available again this year from Boy Scout Troop 43 in Palmer Square. A selection of Scotch Pines from 5½ to 7 feet high and Balsam Firs from 3 to 8 feet high are offered.

Since the tree sale is managed by Troop members, open hours will be daily after school from 3:30 to 6, and on Saturdays from 9 to 6. The tree sale is the major money-raising activity of Troop 43, which is sponsored by the First Presbyterian Church of Princeton. Income from the sale supports all other Troop activities during the year.

FUND DRIVE UNDER WAY

For Erdman Hall. The Princeton phase of the Erdman Hall Fund Campaign for Princeton Theological Seminary has started. Chairman of the committee is Dr. William H. Scheide, a member of the Seminary's Board of Trustees. William H. Sword, who is on the seminary's board of development will serve as vice-chairman.

The first dormitory to be erected by the Seminary since 1893, the hall will be named for Charles R. Erdman and his wife, Estelle Pardee Erdman.

A graduate of both Princeton University and Princeton Seminary, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church for ten years and member of the Seminary faculty for more than 30, Charles R. Erdman was one of Princeton's most distinguished and loved residents.

During his years in Princeton, Dr. Erdman was instrumental in bringing both the Westminster Choir College and the Columbus Boychoir School to the area, maintaining in both an interest which assured their success.

In 1925, Dr. Erdman was elected Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church, in which role he was an instrument of reconciliation at a time when the denomination was sorely torn.

One wing of the new building, now under construction on the site of the Seminary house occupied for more than half a century by Dr. and Mrs. Erdman, will be used to provide overnight accommodations for ministers and laymen attending seminars and conferences at the Seminary's Center of Continuing Education. The second wing will be used to house single male students.

KNIGHTS PLAN PARTY

At Hopewell Orphanage. Princeton Council 636, Knights of Columbus, will sponsor a Christmas Party for the Hopewell Home Orphans on Sunday December 21, at 1:30. Christmas letters to Santa are available from the Knights' home, 111 Prospect Ave.

A special musical program for the party is planned by the Trenton Cathedral High School Choir, and Santa Claus will make his appearance and distribute Christmas packages to the orphans. Peter Miller, program chairman, and his aides will distribute the gifts after Santa personally greets each child. The public is invited.

had a fine night with 21 points (despite a 7-for-13 performance at the foul line), it was the manner in which the other four starters performed that was the basis for brightening the outlook. Three of them were in double figures: Reggie Bird, 20; Bill Sickler and Bob Ryder, 13 each, while Al Duffy had 6. Bird, Ryder and Duffy are the three sophomores.

Bird was 7 for 10 from the floor and 6 for 6 at the foul line, a somewhat astounding performance for a first-year man making his debut in the Garden. He has the early appearance of becoming a three-year fixture in the Princeton lineup.

The offense had its problems now and then, but the job the Tigers did defensively made the contest one-sided.

FUTURE IS BRIGHTER

For Tiger Quintet. For the Princeton basketball team, there is the probability of a defeat Saturday at the hands of its chief challenger for the Ivy League title but the likelihood that its prospects for the season are brighter than had been envisioned a week ago.

The Tigers travel to Philadelphia Saturday night to face Penn, a hustling young quintet which finished third in the standings a year ago and should keep the Quakers in the thick of the battling for the next three years. Starting three juniors and two sophomores, the Red and Blue was favored to raise its record to 14 when it played Virginia in a midweek contest. Clear indication of the upsurge in basketball at Pennsylvania is reflected in the freshman records — 27 straight victories since 1967 before a loss last week to a strong Rutgers team.

A Princeton team good enough to win all 14 of its Ivy games last winter barely defeated Penn (59-56) at the Palestra last January, and it is unlikely that the Tigers will be able to turn the trick again this weekend — particularly in the continuing absence of Co-Captain Jeff Petrie. The Quakers score well, their defense is aggressive and about the only advantage Princeton will have is that 6-8 John Hummer will be the best big man in the game.

Junior Jim Wolf, Hummer's equal in height, will play opposite him and Hummer will have solid opposition. As a sophomore, Wolf held Howard Porter of Villanova to a career low of three points.

Dave Wohl, a six foot junior, is the team's high scorer, having topped the 400 mark in his first year on the varsity. Steve Bilsky, 5-10, is the third junior in the starting lineup, which is rounded out by 6-7 Corky Calhoun and 6-8 Bob Morse. There is considerably more height here than the Tigers can match.

The Quakers began with a 115-79 walloping of Muhlenberg and have followed with clearcut victories over Rutgers at New Brunswick and Navy at the Palestra. Winless against the Tigers since 1966, they have their sights set on a fast start in the Ivy race and — more than incidentally — snapping the defending champions' string of 14 straight league victories.

Highly Satisfactory Start. Princeton's future appears somewhat brighter than had been expected on two counts:

without Petrie, the Tigers did surprisingly well against NYU and Villanova; and prospects for Petrie's return by the time of the Christmas Tournament in Los Angeles are somewhat better than had been anticipated a week ago.

The lithe, high-scoring senior not only has medical clearance to follow an active rehabilitation program, but to play as soon as he feels able. It will take at least another two weeks for him to be ready for even part time action, but that in itself is a more hopeful development than had appeared possible earlier this month.

Few coaches have gone in to the pressure-cooker that Madison Square Garden is for many a college team with the handicaps which confronted Coach Pete Carril last week, and still come home with a one-sided triumph. Minus the services of his top scorer (Petrie averaged 21 points a game last winter) and starting three sophomores, Carril directed the Tigers to a victory so decisive that the game was virtually in the bag at half time. The Tigers had a 44-27 lead at the intermission, and coasted to a 77-60 victory.

It was a personal triumph for Hummer, who held big Jim Signorile of the Violets to a barely-visible three points. Two days later, Signorile got 17 against a highly-regarded Columbia quintet, while in his first game of the season, against weak Lehman College, he had poured in 50. A year ago in Dillon Gym, Hummer allowed him 24 points before fouling out, and there was a real revenge factor motivating the Tiger captain.

But if the veteran Hummer

Tiger Freshmen Impressive

Early appearances can be misleading, but it seems probable that the current Princeton freshman basketball team may be one of the best in the east. The Class of '73 opened its season here last week with a 78-72 victory over Rutgers and followed with a 92-78 triumph over Villanova.

Brian Taylor, a 6-2 forward from Perth Amboy, should draw varsity crowds early to Jadwin as Bill Bradley did in his freshman year in Dillon Gym. He has moves under the basket that are distinctly picturesque.

Other top performers for Coach Art Hyland include 6-8 Bill Daake from St. Louis, 6-1 Ted Manakas from Fort Lee, and 6-5 Bill Jackson from Dallas. For Princetonians, however, it will be something of a problem to see the freshmen in action: following a Wednesday performance at 6 this week against Manhattan, they will play in Jadwin only four more times, all during February.

An early 16-7 lead was increased steadily to a 15-point margin at the intermission, and when the victors added 10 points while holding NYU scoreless during the first five minutes of the second half, it was all over including the shouting.

Impressive First Half. The defense continued to do the job in the season's opener Saturday in Jadwin Gym, but in the long run, ninth-ranked Villanova took the play away from Princeton. Trailing, 31-26, after 20 minutes, the agile Wildcats rallied for a 60-to-46 triumph, handing the Orange and Black its first regular-season defeat in 13 games.

After having taken charge of the more experienced visitors in the early going, largely on a 50 per cent average from the floor while holding the Cats to 33 per cent. Princeton's young quintet drowned in a sea of turnovers. Five in a row, all engineered by a ball-hawking Villanova defense, paved the way for a surge that cut the Tigers down from a 37-32 lead to a 51-37 deficit in the space of just six minutes.

TRI-CAPTAINS NAMED FOR 1970 PHS FOOTBALL TEAM: For the first time in memory, the Princeton High School football team next year will be led by three captains. From left are tailback Lou John Rossi, fullback Lawrence Parker and tackle Dave O'Brien. "These three got 95 per cent of the vote which was an indication the players wanted all three," said Coach Dick Wood. Rossi threw for four TDs and scored two himself this year; Parker scored three times in the first four games and then was handicapped by injuries, while O'Brien played tackle on offense and guard on defense. Parker also excelled as a linchman.

That was more than the home team could overcome. Villanova put two men on Hummer to pare his scoring to seven for the night. Bird was in early foul trouble with three before the intermission, and the bench obviously cannot come within a country mile of providing the reserve strength needed to fill in for him and Petric, too.

Sickler was high for the evening with 13 and Bird, despite long stretches out of action as his fouls mounted, had 10. The Tigers made countless errors in the final 20 minutes, but the fact that they led at the half while they were learning and while waiting for Petric is cause for encouragement.

PHS Football Dinner

The annual post-season football dinner for members of the Princeton High School football team and their fathers was scheduled for this Wednesday evening at 6:30 at the Princeton Inn.

Maryland was on the mid-week schedule Wednesday in Jadwin. After the Penn game Saturday, the Tigers play tenacious Navy at Annapolis next Wednesday in their final game prior to post-Christmas action on the West Coast.

TWO FROM PHS NAMED

To All-County Defense Squad. Two Princeton High School players have been named to the all-county defensive team selected by the coaches in co-operation with the Trentonian.

They are Cris Mielow, a linebacker, and middle guard John Clausen. Both are seniors. Tim Taggart was named to the second team offensive unit at end. He was the Little Tigers' leading pass receiver.

HUN FIVE TO OPEN

Plays Here Wednesday. The Hun School basketball team, 17-3 last season and co-holder with Germantown Friends of the Penn-Jersey championship, will open its 1969-70 campaign next Wednesday afternoon, December 17, against visiting Toms River High School. Tip-off is at 7:30.

Coach Dave Leete has two players returning from the starting five that was so effective last year. They are 6-4 Mike Maguire and 6-1 Mike Rossi — co-captains of this year's team. One will play guard and one forward but Leete reports he hasn't made up his mind yet who will play where.

Lost through graduation are former captain Don Silverstein, Herman Szeker and Nat Williams.

Two other returning lettermen are Dick Embury, who saw considerable action, and Bill Crawford, whose play was more limited. Both are under six feet. Up from the layover squad are 6-1 Dirk Whitehead and 6-2 Rick Ziegler — both members of Hun's undefeated football team, as were McGuire and Rossi.

A transfer student from St. Anthony's High School, who has made the varsity, is Lee Van Horn, a junior. Lee described him as small but quick.

How does the team stack up? "We won't be as big as last year," said Lee — Silvers, Williams and Szeker were all over six feet — "and we won't have as much overall scoring power. It's coming along slowly," he added. The team will scrimmage Borden town Saturday.

Schedule Tougher. While there was no denying Hun had a solid and at times outstanding team last year, there were murmurings that the schedule was less than formidable. The Penn-Jersey League, in which Hun is firmly involved, has seldom been a challenge from top to bottom.

The league opponents — Perkiomen, PDS, Solebury, Pennington, George School, Moorestown Friends, Germantown Friends, Friends Central and Academy of New Church — are still there but not all are home-and-home contests as in the past. Hun plays five of the above teams only once.

In addition it has picked up five new teams this season — all solid challengers. They are the opening opponent, Toms River, and Morristown Prep., St. Anthony's High School, and two of the larger prep schools in the area — Lawrenceville and Peddie.

Hun will also engage in a holiday tournament in Hightstown December 29-30.

In short, Hun with 286 students has decided to break away from its cloistered circle of the past and take on the big boys. It should be a stimulating season for followers of the quintet in its new gymnasium on campus.

HUNTERDON IS NEXT

For PHS Quintet. For its second game of the season, the Princeton High School basketball team will travel to Hunterdon Central in Flemington Friday evening for an 8 p.m. contest.

Next Tuesday, the Little Tigers will play one of the two afternoon contests on their 20-game schedule when they entertain Franklin Township. Tapoff is at 3:45. A junior varsity game will follow.

A report of the team's opener with Hopewell Valley appears on page 18.

PHS SKATERS TO OPEN

Tuesday With Brick Twp. The Princeton High School hockey team, a team in search of a home rink and respectability, will open its new season Tuesday evening with a contest against visiting Brick Township.

The game will be played at the Princeton Day School rink — the Little Tigers' home ice — starting at 7:30. Last year, PHS won only two of 14 but Brick Township was one of those two victims.

The squad will be coached this year by Dan McGuire, long-time golf coach at the school. Coaching hockey will be a new experience for McGuire, who reported that as late as three weeks ago, he didn't know he was going to take the job. He succeeds John Post, who guided the team the last two years. Post is stepping down to devote full time to obtaining his doctorate degree.

PETE SMAGORINSKY at 6-5 is expected to give the PHS basketball team some height as the Little Tigers begin their third season under Larry Ivan.

"It's very hard to have to forecast what we'll do," said McGuire. "We've had no scrimmages, in fact we've only been on the ice three times." He went on to add that he didn't know what the opposition was like and as a consequence of all of these factors, he would pretty much have to feel his way along in the early stages.

Returning lettermen include this year's co-captains, Phil Mathews and Hughie Fitzpatrick, and John Holder. Holder and Mathews are linemen; Fitzpatrick a defenseman. Also back is a sophomore line of John Weber, Steve Sanford and Allen Fitzpatrick. Weber and Sanford earning letters as freshmen. Mike Tomlinson will be goalie.

In addition, McGuire reported he has a half-dozen good freshman prospects out, headed by Mark Richards. He is being aided in coaching by Graham Nevin, a student at Princeton University. Brooks Mohrman is the team manager.

FLYING FISH WIN OPENER

Boys Defeat Central Bergen. The boys team of the Princeton YMCA Flying Fish won its first meet of the new season last week when it defeated Central Bergen at Hackensack, 123 to 84.

The girls were less successful, however. They lost to visiting Passaic-Clifton in the Princeton Y pool, 126 to 74.

Andy Bolster was a double winner, capturing the 13/14 100-yard breaststroke in 1:15.9 and the 14/17 200-yard individual medley in 2:39.3. Other individual winners were Bobby Heil, David Frieber, Greg Lauffer, Haywood Miller, Mike McKenna, Bob Hoedemaker, Peter Manieri, Tom McKenna.

For the girls the lone double winner was Martina Laskey. Competing in the 13/14 division, she won the 100-yard freestyle in 1:00.3 and the butterfly for the same distance in 1:12.4.

Other first-place winners: Carol Wagner, Margaret Jillson, Maura Dorgan, Carrie Bolster and Margaret Martin, Wagner, Jillson and Martin all won in the breaststroke.

EWING HERE FRIDAY

For PHS Wrestling Openers. The Princeton High School wrestling team, whose 10-4 record was one of the best completed by a Little Tiger squad last year, will open its season Friday evening at 5 again at Ewing in the John Witherspoon School gymnasium. A javyee match will start at 6:30.

Last year, Ewing dominated the middle weights to ease out a 25-23 victory. This year coach Tom Murray has ten returning lettermen to throw against the Blue Devils, and hopes are high that PHS can turn the tables.

Next Wednesday evening at 8, PHS will play host to North Hunterdon, one of the long-time powers in the sport. Last year, North Hunterdon routed PHS, 43-0. For followers of the burgeoning sport in this area, this is one to see.

STILL TIME TO JOIN

In Two Recreation Programs. The Princeton Recreation Department is sponsoring two additional winter-through-spring programs which began last Saturday. Those interested may still join.

The Boys Wrestling Program is repeated again this year. Sessions are conducted for boys in grades six through twelve from 1:00 to 4:00 p.m. in the John Witherspoon School Gym. Mr. Thomas Murray is the instructor.

The Boys Basketball Program is supervised by Mr. Murray, every Saturday from 9 a.m. to noon in the Community Park School gym for boys in grades five to 12. The 9 a.m. to 10:30 a.m. session will be for fifth to eighth graders and the 10:30 to noon session for ninth to 12th graders.

All of the programs will run through April 25th, excluding December 27th. The programs are free to youngsters in the required grades who live in or attend school in Princeton. For further information, please call the Recreation Department, 921-9480.

BOWLING NOTES

Rocky Hill Ties No. 3. In the Tri County Firemen's League last week at the Princeton Recreation Lanes, Rocky Hill gained a 46-46 tie with No. 3, displacing Kingston which had been tied with No. 3 the week before. Kingston dropped to second place with 44 points, followed by Plainsboro with 42. Three teams — No. 1, Dutch Neck and Princeton Junction are bunched at 40 each.

Scores were off. Dick Anderson of Dutch Neck rolled the high single game of 215. Between 211 and 200 were Elmer Wilson, Joe Sherwin, Robert Matzisen, Frank Stanke, Joe Pfister, Al Perna and Earl Smith. George Luck rolled 200-201.

The Nassau League's first half appears to have narrowed to a two-team race between Princeton Aviation and Grover Lumber — both tied for the lead with 58 points apiece. Tied for second, ten points back, are First Aid and Plumber and Steamfitters Local 380. Jim Wheeler (222) and Jim Shely (215) were high for Princeton Aviation, while Vince Tufano of Grover had 200. Others: Don Shinn, 216; Ben DeVido Jr., 205; Pat Mighaccio, 204; Art Stolt, 203; Mike Picelli, 201; and Sal D. Meglio, 202.

In the A League, Dave Pinelli of Smith Book Bindery rolled the high single game of 200. Others: 245, and Don Snyder of first-place Ivy Inn finished the high series of 623. Don had games of 193, 211, 219. Stefaneli's Bill Barclay rolled a final game 233 for a

Skiing Spots Listed

A comprehensive booklet containing descriptions of all the ski areas in the state of New Jersey is available from the state Department of Conservation and Economic Development.

Titled "New Jersey Ski Areas," it contains geographic locations, traveling directions, and data on fees, opening hours, type and number of lifts, and types of trails available at each center.

Also included is information about special facilities open to the public, such as motels, hotels and restaurants nearby. Copies of the booklet may be obtained free by writing to the Department's Bureau of Recreation, Box 1420 in Trenton, New Jersey 08625.

Sports In Princeton

601 series, and John Balestrieri of Balestrieri Builders sandwiched a 177 between 209-214 for an even 600. Jack Petrone had a pair, 225-202, as did Tony Tamasi, 200-201.

Others: Ed Duncan, 227; Craig Donaldson, 226; Bud Fowler, 222; and Frank Cawley, 221. John Donaldson, All Hubbard, Bill Pinelli, Nick Rossi, Bill Whitley, Bob Sculerati and Joe Procaccino were between 213 and 200.

Ivy Inn has a 56-48 lead over Nassau & Wright Store in the standings and Princeton Inn is third with 46 points. At 44-all are Stefanelli, Smith Book Bindery and Balestrieri.

Willie Rosso rolled a fine 571 series on games of 198-194-179 in the Blue Angles Hi-Y League. Jack Petrone had 173-184 and brother Jamie, 166. Greg Kline and Peter Ferrara rolled 174 and 173.

Tied for first place are Mixers and Ring Pins with eight points each. Hilo's and Taps each have four.

Betty Kleiber's 203 was the high single game in the Business Women's League. Sis Snyder rolled 189, Carol Lish, 173; and Alice Potts, 167.

Three points separate the top three teams in the standings. Rocky Hill Inn has 50, Nassau Conover 48, and Balestrieri, 47. Griggs Corner is fourth with 42.

SARA ROSE ROLLS 193

In Bowling League, Sara Rose of first-place Rosso's Cafe in the Princeton Women's Bowling League rolled a 193 last week — the high individual game. Teammate Marilyn Silvester had 170.

Other high games: Mary Henderson of Cranbury Bank, 181; Pat Brown of Swift's Colonial Diner, 177; Mary Hurlburt of Pin Pals, 173; and Phyllis Bocciafuso of Will's Shell, 172. Mettler fashioned the high team series of 2286, while Rocky & Sons claimed the high team game of 800.

Rosso's continues to lead the league with 68 points. Rocky & Sons has 58 and Swift's Diner and Cranbury Bank, 54 each.

Time
waits for no man, except at Nassau Savings.

That's right.

Nassau Savings "turns back the clock" to give you 15 extra earning days each and every month. You can make deposits as late as the 15th and still earn full interest from the 1st.

And Nassau pays the highest rate in the area on regular passbook accounts, compounded four times a year. So your savings dollars not only work harder, but grow faster for you.

It's just one of the many reasons why so many local people turn to Nassau when they want the most on their passbook savings.

Why not open your high-earning account now? You'll find that when you deposit on or before the 15th of any month, time waits for you at Nassau Savings.

And time is money.

DO IT YOURSELF!

... IT'S EASY TO WOOD PANEL ANY ROOM WITH

PRE-FINISHED PLANKWELD

Ready-to-Install WELDWOOD PLYWOOD

1 Start paneling in corner. Nail down edge of first panel at corner end.

2 Insert metal clips in the other edge groove. Nail clips to wall or stud.

3 Slip grooved edge of next panel into groove of first. Clips and nails are hidden.

Here is a beautiful wood paneling you can install yourself. Even if you aren't handy, you can panel a whole room in a few hours. And do a fine job, too.

Plankweld is Weldwood Plywood paneling. Faces are already finished — no painting or staining is needed. Panel edges are grooved to fit into each other; fastening is done with clips so nails do not show.

You can put Plankweld right over old walls — no furring or framing is needed. That's why Plankweld is such a wonderful material for remodeling. It's fine for new houses too. The panels are fastened directly to the studs.

By doing the job yourself you can panel any room you want to, and the whole cost will be the modest price of Plankweld alone.

And — here's something you'll be glad to know — Plankweld is guaranteed for the life of your house. No more repairs!

Come in to see Plankweld. We have it in fine hardwoods. See how easy it is — and how inexpensive — to wood panel any room in your house.

Plankweld is ¼" thick, in easy-to-handle panels 16¼" wide by 8 feet long.

Nine generous rooms on a pretty in-town cul de sac of handsome homes . . . large living and family rooms (with lots of sofa space) open on wide privacy to the rear . . . oversized kitchen, ideal for informal dining . . . A full formal dining room, gracious entrance hall, powder room and two car garage, all on ground level, attest to the architect builder's taste and skill . . . Five bedrooms and three full baths promise spacious living upstairs, with a special thought for mother . . . A second floor laundry and sewing room . . . And surprise of surprises, a fully floored attic, reached by a broad stairway! We love this distinctive home. So, we think, will you. $68,000

HANDSOME COLONIAL IN A GREAT NEIGHBORHOOD
FOR CHILDREN

Entry hall, large living room with fireplace, full family kitchen. All this and a study and tiled powder room on the first floor . . . Four double bedrooms, two full tiled baths upstairs, and good closet and storage space. $52,500

COMPACT . . . CUTE . . . COZY . . .
CLOSE-IN . . . AND SUNNY

Maximum Ease and Comfort, Minimum Maintenance for the starting couple, or for the wise couple who's got it made and wants to keep it that way. Walk comfortably to most neighborhood conveniences from a community of homes priced in the $50's and $60's. It's a bright and artfully designed two-bedroom house with an arm-chair living room, a formal dining room, a handy, spacious kitchen and powder room that belong to a larger house. Of course there are bedrooms upstairs . . . two nice ones, with lots of closet and under-eave storage, and a roomy tiled bath. We can show you this design for living within two minutes of our center-of-town office. $39,500

Emily Rockwell, I've never seen you looking so frazzled and weebegone. What's the matter? I thought we were going to shopping for the kids.

Oh, Janet, I can't bear to look at another store — not after what happened to me this morning at Bonnettes. I waited 15 minutes to get one of those hot wheels toys they had advertised and when I finally got to the counter they ran out. And the people! I thought I'd suffocate. I swear never again. I'm not going to drive out of town for that!

All I can say, Emily, is that I had an even worse experience yesterday at Bidee Bumpie City. They had a full page ad in the paper which Pinhead saying didn't of said I the kids' trip. strange store opened this game in all I could And the you or waste kept pointing to and I was crazy if I take advantage their prices. He could get all gifts in one Well it was very UNIQUE COLONIAL . . . unique for its unusual charm and character!

 Not large, but ideal for a couple with a taste for the authentic. 200 years old but with all the modern conveniences. Restored to absolute perfection. Living room with fireplace, combination den and dining, powder room, modern kitchen with breakfast porch. Upstairs . . . 2 bedrooms, nursery or private study, and bath. High on a hill overlooking the beautiful Hopewell Valley. $37,500

JOIN THE COUNTRY CLUB SET . . . near Bedon's Brook and one of the most challenging golf courses here, this home hides behind tall shade trees and clipped hedges for that ever desired privacy. A closer look behind its woodsh bark facade and shake roof reveals a home decorated with loving care. Besides a warm living room with adjoining dining area, there's a den with beamed ceiling, a music room with a slate floor, comfy kitchen, as well as (upstairs) three bedrooms, sitting room, and bath. What an opportunity to escape to an exclusive estate area. $49,500

AND ON ONE STORY, TOO . . . here is that rarity we are so often asked about by every city dweller who yearns to spend his retirement in Princeton — a fine home on one floor with large rooms, where all his grand furniture will fit as well as it does in his Manhattan coop. Freshly painted and decorated, with super-clean wall-to-wall carpeting in most rooms, there is a master bedroom and bath at one end of the house, and another bedroom and bath at the other end, together with a large, paneled family room, which can be divided into guest room and den, or into 2 bedrooms, by a folding door. Beautiful lot, with large trees and a secluded patio.
 Two-zone heat. Adequate air-conditioning. $35,500

ON A KNOLL . . . among beautiful trees and far back from the road on three acres, here is Rosedale Road's best buy! The rooms are very large . . .
 living room with fireplace (15'x30'), separate dining room, spacious kitchen (17'9" x 14'), paneled study, a master bedroom 19' x 15', two other bedrooms, each 14'x15', huge closets, built-ins galore! Maid's room has been converted into an extra kitchen, but could easily be a family room (with wet bar) or fourth bedroom as there is a bath adjoining. There's also a floored expansion attic perfect for two-bedrooms and bath, when needed!
 $69,500

THE PERFECT OLD COLONIAL . . . dating from 1740, with the wings added later, it is one of the show places of a neighboring village. Restored by its present owners over a period of many years, every room is now a work of art. 1.7 acres of land, with many great old shade trees and beautiful hedges to guarantee privacy. Gracious entrance hall, large living room with fireplace, vast music room (for family room) with high ceiling, paneled walls and fireplace. Heated sun room facing the lovely garden, with thermopane doors. Spacious dining room, large modern kitchen, powder-room, dark-room (or laundry) and 2-car attached garage. 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. Special burglar alarm already installed. Visit our office, at your earliest convenience, and see our color photos of this beautiful home. $78,500

STUART HILL . . . Fabulous 2-acre building site in the most desirable part of Princeton. This neighborhood appeals to people who dream of living in castles among lofty trees. All utilities installed.
